NATURAL GAS DID IT.

Hotel Marvin, at Findlay, O., Nearly Destroyed by a Frightful Explosion--Two Killed.

FINDLAY, O., Jan. 19.—The first disaster Findlay has experienced from the use of natural gas occurred shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while the guests of the Hotel Marvin were waiting to be summoned to dinner. In the morning it was discovered that gas was escaping from a leaking pipe somewhere into the dining-room, and Mr. Marvin, the owner of the building, with the plumbers, spent the entire forenoon trying to locate the leak. At about 10 o'clock they entered a chamber underneath the dining room, and found such an accumulation of gas that they could not breathe, and it was suggested that a hole be sawed through the floor into the dining room in order to obtain fresh air. This was done, and just as the hole was made, one of the dining room girls, who was sweeping the floor, stepped upon a match, and in an instant an explosion occurred that not only wrecked the building, but killed two girls and maimed and injured a dozen other employes. The force of the explosion was so great that it blew out the flame of the ignited gas, and no fire followed the awful ruin which the shock had caused. The whole city was rocked, as if by an earthquake, by the concussion, and all the windows on the square were demolished. The wreck of the hotel building was all but complete, the only rooms in the house escaping destruction being the parlors and the office.

When the work of removing the dead and rescuing the injured was begun it was found that Katie Walters, a waitress, had been killed outright. Ella Johnson, a dining-room girl, was found alive under a mass of brick and mortar, but she died shortly after being carried to a place of safety. Kate Rooney, another dining-room girl, was also fatally injured, but is alive. Frank Poundstone, day clerk at the hotel, was painfully cut and bruised about the neck and face, but will recover. Anson Marvin, owner of the building, who, with the plumbers, was under the dining room floor when the explosion occurred, was probably fatally injured, as he inhaled a great deal of the flame from the gas. Albert French, porter at the hotel, was out on the neck and head, but will recover. Frank Andrews, one of the proprietors, had his right eye knocked out, and was seriously bruised about the face and the throat. Charles Graves, Philip Weil and Jack Cuhill, the plumbers, were painfully shocked and stunned, but will soon be themselves again. This completes the list of casualties.

The financial loss will be about $25,000 on the building and $10,000 on the furniture, all fully covered by insurance. It is a question, however, whether any insurance will be realized, as none of the destruction was brought on by fire. The proprietors of the hotel, Mr. Frank Andrews and brother, of Bradford, Pa., had been in charge of the Marvin house only since January 1.

At 9 o'clock another explosion occurred in the same place as the one in the afternoon, setting fire to the already wrecked and badly-demolished dining-room of the Marvin house. The fire department was quickly summoned, however, and more serious damage was averted. The gas from the main pipe has finally been turned off.

SEVERE STORM

Rages in New England—Heavy Snows at Many Places.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—The reports from various sections of New England indicate that the storm of Saturday night was one of the most severe of the winter. At Haverhill the country roads were almost impassable and railroad travel was seriously interferred with. Fall River reports that all communications with Boston was broken for twenty-four hours. A foot of snow has fallen at Lancaster, N. H., and it is still snowing. At New Bedford a bridge across the river was damaged and rendered unsafe. Salem was in darkness last night owing to the mayor ordering the electric light currents turned off, fearing trouble from the crossing of wires. In Boston wires are down in all directions. A heavy snow fell in Rutland, Vermont, which is badly drifted in places.

INDIAN PUPILS KILLED

In One of the Recent Skirmishes at Pine Ridge Agency.

CARLISLE, Pa., Jan. 19.—Capt. Pratt, of the Indian training school, this city, learned Saturday that several of the Carlisle pupils, among them White Horse, Little Bull and Nakutooths, were killed in one of the recent skirmishes, at Pine Ridge agency and Crayton Brave was wounded. The letter does not state on which side the pupils were engaged.

Newspaper Man Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Charles Taber Congdon, newspaper man, author, poet and magazine writer, died yesterday morning from heart failure, at the Hotel Albert. He was in his sixty-ninth year. The funeral will take place at his old home, New Bedford, Mass., on Wednesday next.

Bank Fails.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 19.—The American National bank, of Kansas City, has suspended. The bank had a capital of $125,000 and was a member of the Kansas city clearing house, and carried on a special deposit for bank and mercantile collections. Its surplus was $55,000 and undivided profits $70,000.

TOWN WIPED OUT.

Disastrous Fire at Alamosa, Col.--The Flames Elsewhere.

DENVER, Jan. 19.—Dispatches received yesterday say that the city of Alamosa was almost wiped out by fire. Most of the buildings in the town are of wood, and when the fire started a high wind was blowing. The flames spread rapidly and swept the main street from end to end. The loss is very heavy.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 19.—Two cars in a train on the Cheyenne and Northern railroad caught fire Saturday afternoon, from sparks from the locomotive, and an intervening car prevented the engineer and fireman from seeing the flames. The passengers were driven to the rear coach. A brakeman named Anderson volunteed to warn the engineer, and at great peril crawled over the burning cars to the front of the train. The engineer decided to make a quick run to the nearest water tank, seven miles distant. When the tank was reached both cars had been burned up, while the front of the passenger car was nearing destruction. Brakeman Anderson, who risked his life to save others, died last night from fatal burns.

INTENSELY COLD

Is the Weather Throughout All Parts of Europe.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—Information from all parts of the empire is to the effect that the weather is intensly cold. Owing to the calm, however, the cold is bearable. In the waters immediate to the vicinity of this city the ice is eighteen inches thick. Between Rugen and St. Lasund the sea, five miles in width, is swarming with sleighs and skaters, and small ponds are frozen solid.

Throughout Europe the weather experienced is the most rigorous known for thirty years. In the Elbe a number of steamers have had their propellers wrenched off by the dashing of ice floes. Many vessels in the same stream have parted their anchor chains and are drifting helplessly about.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN.

It is Said He Will Fight Slavin Next Summer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—A well authenticated rumor has it that John L. Sullivan, prior to his departure for Grand Rapids this morning, affixed his signature to articles of agreement, which had already been signed by Slavin, for a fight next summer for the world's heavy weight championship.

The amount of stake and in what country the fight is to take place, are to be kept secret for some time. Phil Lynch and James Wakely, who are credited with having induced Sullivan to make the match, left this morning for New York.

PARNELL COMING.

The Great Irish Leader Will Visit America.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The Press this morning says Parnell will visit America in the early spring. A meeting was held last night at the home of one of the most influential Irishmen, and it was resolved that Mr. Parnell should be publicly indorsed by the Irish of the this city in public meeting within a week should the Boulogne conference be postponed further than Tuesday night.

LOSS OF LIFE

Reported From the Extreme Cold in Great Britian.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The weather throughout Great Brttian is incessing in severity and reports of loss of life from the extreme cold are coming in. Many head of cattle are reported as having frozen to death.

Claims to Be an Heir.

BUTTE, Mont. Jan. 19. — Eugene Davis, of East Saginaw, Mich., who claims to be the only legitimate son of the late Major Davis, who died a year ago, worth $15,000,000, has arrived here. Eugene's mother, Mrs. A. J. Davis, keeps a saloon at East Saginaw, and claims she was married to the Montana millionaire a half century ago in Maine. About 1850 they moved to Iowa, and a few years after Mr. Davis deserted her.

Instantly Killed.

CALDWELL, Kan., Jan. 19 —J. L. Tracy, a freight brakeman on the Rock Island road, was shot and instantly killed Saturday night by Wm. Brooks, of this city. Tracy went to the home of Brooks for the purpose of meeting Brooks wife, with whom he had been intimate.

Criminal Malpractice.

CATSKILL, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The Rev. Harry W. George, pastor of the Dutch Reformed church at Leeds, and Dr. D. D. Erway, of the same village, are under arrest here on a charge of criminal malpractice, made by Miss Lottie Townsend, the victim, who is now lying in a critical condition.

The Moffitt heirs in Winchester and vicinity have been notified to file their claims to heirship in the great Moffitt estate pending in the chancery court of England.

TRAGEDY IN AN ASYLUM.

George Warburton, an Aged Cripple, Murdered by a Whisky-Crazed Negro at Lebanon, Ind.

LEBANON, Ind., Jan. 19.—Boone county records another murder at the poor farm. Yesterday morning at about 6.30 o'clock an inoffensive old charge, George Warburton, was brutally beaten to death by Samuel Beecham, a negro, who has been known as Sam Curtis during his stay at the institution. Beecham confesses to Sheriff Miller that the ownership of a chair was in dispute between him and Warburton, and that he went to the old man's room this morning, and, after a few words, he took from him his cane and struck him three times over the head. Warburton's skull was fractured in two places and he died within half an hour. Beecham made an attack on Sheriff Miller when arrested, characteristic of his vicious nature, which has been manifested on several occasions, but was overpowered and lodged in jail. Warburton was aged seventy and badly crippled. He was once a well-to-do farmer of Boone county, but was reduced to poverty by adversity and affliction. He has three or four children living in the county. Beecham, aged forty-five, claims that he is from Zionsville. Curtis was a negro who had been given quarters at the poor house temporarily on account of his unfitness for work caused by drunkenness.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN'S ULTIMATUM.

He Will Fight Slavin if the Latter Whips Corbett and Kilrain.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—James Wakely and Phil Lynch, of New York, arrived in Chicago Saturday, having come from New Orleans, where they witnessed the Fitzsimmons Dempsey fight, to visit John L. Sullivan and try to induce him to pay some attention to Slavin's repeated challenges. They called on John at the Leland hotel and accompanied him and Jack Barnitt to the Windsor theater. At intervals, when the champion was not on the stage, he chatted pleasantly with his two staunch supporters.

"Now, what do you think of it, John?" Wakely asked, after he had explained the object of his visit. "Slavin," he added, "has any amount of backing, it seems, and you could win a fortune in stakes besides the biggest purse ever hung up."

Sullivan, who was sitting in his dressing room, his big, clenched fists resting on his knees, listened attentively.

"Well, it's just like this, Jim," he said, closing one eye and looking at the ceiling with the other. "I ain't got time to fight all those fellows that are after the championship. All of them have the same claim, and if I started out to do it I couldn't discriminate, and I wouldn't know where to commence, see? Now, I'll tell what I'll do. Let Slavin, Corbett and Kilrain settle among themselves, by fighting, which is the best man, and I'll guarantee to fight the winner. If Slavin whips Corbett and Kilrain, I'll fight him, but he's got to do that first."

"How about Jackson?" he was asked.

"Oh, I don't consider him. He's out of it, as far as I'm concerned."

"But even with only the three white men in the race, wouldn't that be a roundabout way to get at the solution of the problem as to who is the better man, Slavin or yourself?"

"Well, if they get to business right away they can kill off the dead wood inside of a year, and that is as soon, according to my present arrangements, as I would be ready to fight the odd man."

"Is that your ultimatum, John?"

"That's what it is."

IN A FREE FIGHT

Two Young Men are Fatally Injured at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—During a free fight at Harrison and Clinton streets, about midnight last night, two young men, Lawrence Casey and Richard Jaskins, were seriously and perhaps fatally injured. They were in a buggy and got into a quarrel with a crowd of Greeks, who set upon them with knives. The police captured and took eighteen of them to the station.

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 19.—Yesterday morning after deliberating two hours the jury returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter against Richard Steen, and fixed his sentence at two years in the prison south. In 1882 Steen killed Grant Williamson.

Old Claim Allowed.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 19.—Judge Virginus P. Chapin, of Clarksburg, has just been allowed $60,000 by the government. A claim of $200,000 was filed during the administration of Filmore, and has been pending ever since. Chapin was United States commissioner claim agent to Samoa, and lost during a storm on the Island goods, vessels and warehouse to the amount asked for in the claim.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—For Indiana and Illinois: Fair; stationary temperature, except in southern portion; westerly winds.

Attachments Filed.

HELENA, Mont. Jan. 19.—Attachments were filed in the district court against the Big Ox Milling Co. aggregating $80,000. About $5,000 is claimed in the shape of loans by the officers and the balance is due the miners for wages.

CONGRESS.

The Doings of the National Legislature To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—After the reading of the journal in the senate today Mr. Gorman proceeded to argue against the correctness of a decision of the vice-president during Friday's session. to the effect that an appeal from that decision was not debatable because the questions it set forth were made not debatable. Mr. Gorman admitted that the rule, although in direct conflict with all the authorities had obtained until 1884, when the rule was modified so as to make it conform to the general parliamentary law, and that under the change made, a question of order might be raised at any stage of a proceeding, and should be decided without debate, unsubject to an appeal to the senate. Any appeal taken "on any subsequent question of order" should be decided without debate. It was perfectly clear, he argued, that the rule which had prevented debate on an appeal where the question itself was not debatable was then abrogated. Addressing himself specially to the vice president Mr. Gorman said that no vice president had ever taken, or ever could afford to take any advantage, or make any arbitrary ruling in the senate. From the first vice president until now, no man whom the people had honored by an election to the office had ever attempted

The discussion was continued until 12:30 when the consideration of morning business was proceeded with. Several bills were introduced and referred, and at 1 o'clock the election bill was taken up.

TRAGEDY AT CHATTANOOGA.

Judge Warder, His Daughter and Her Husband Shot.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 19.—A horrible tragedy occurred here yesterday. S. M. Fugette, cashier of the South Chattanooga Savings bank, was shot and killed by his father-in-law, Judge J. A. Warder, who is city attorney of Chattanooga.

Judge Warder is shot in two places, one ball penetrating his breast at the right nipple and the other took off the index finger of the left hand. Mrs. Fugette is the only child of Judge Warder and she is shot in the right thigh, a very dangerous wound.

AN ELECTRIC SHOCK.

The Current Turned On and Harry W. Hill Will Dance.

To-day in the superior court the Fort Wayne electric light company entered suit against Harry W. Hill, doing business as the Hill Clutch works, for damages to the amount of $20,000. The plaintiff company had the contract for erecting an electric light plant in the city of Bloomington, ill and contracted with Hill to do a share of the work for $16,000. It is claimed that the defendant, by reason of negligence and incapacity, failed to accomplish the work according to contract, and the electric company was obliged to reconstruct the whole thing, at a great loss. Judge R. S. Taylor for the plaintiff.

FIELDS IS FUNNY.

He is Arrested, Released, and is Now Wanted Again.

A man giving his name as Fields was arrested by Officer Lee, Saturday night, on suspicion. The man had seven gold and silver watch cases, and was trying to dispose of them. Chief Wilkinson, after close questioning, saw no reason why the man should be detained, so he ordered his release. Later developments showed that the smooth rascal had stolen the jewelry from Moses Winters, a silverplater.

The Black Eagle.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—Emperor William has invested Chancellor Von Caprivi, Count Von Halsfeldt and others with the decoration of the order of the Black Eagle. The ceremony was witnessed by Count Von Moltke.

The revival campaign opened at the St. Paul M. E. church yesterday very encouragingly. The congregations were very large throughout the day. In the evening the house was crowded to overflowing and the service was characterized by a deep spiritual interest. At the close of a very impressive sermon in the morning by Rev. S. D. Hillman, a young man was received into the church. The pastor will be assisted during the week to come by a number of ministers and special workers in our own city and from other parts of the surrounding country. A great work is expected. Services at 7:30 this evening.

Arnold Kiralfy, the original Kiralfy, who has scored success the world over as one of the best performers on the stage, was a caller at THE SENTINEL office. He has been before the public as an actor for twenty years, but tonight will be his first appearance in this city. He can't be beaten as a dancer, and he will prove it in "The Water Queen" at the Temple to-night. He is a pleasant gentleman off the stage and makes many friends in and out of the profession.

William Wallace and Lillie Korns, Frank Bacome and Lotta Mendenhall have been licensed to wed.

IN CUPID'S REALM.

Gallant Lovers Lead Their Fair Ones to Worship at the Shrine of Hymen.

Yesterday noon at Collingswood, fifteen miles from this city, Rev. A. K. Zartman performed a very beautiful marriage ceremony which made man and wife, Miss Avilla J. Snyder, of that place, and Wm. T. Wagoner, a young farmer of Hamilton, DeKalb county. The wedding occurred at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carolus Snyder, and one hundred guests were seated at the wedding feast which followed. The young couple received many presents. They will reside at Hamilton.

POTTER-MILLER.

On the 29th inst. at the brides' home, Ashland, Ohio, will be consummated the marriage of Miss Clara Miller, a charming and refined young lady, to George E. Potter, assistant civil engineer of the western division of the Nickel Plate railroad with headquarters in this city. The engagement has lasted for some months, but the matter has been kept very quiet. The young man is handsome as he is worthy and has a host of friends to whom this announcement will be a surprise. Congratulations in advance will now be in order. After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Potter will settle down in this city.

BACOME-MENDENHALL.

This evening at 5 o'clock, at the bride's home, 111 Lafayette street, will occur the marriage of Miss Lotta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Mendenhall, to Mr. Frank C. Bacome, a popular type in the composing room of the Morning Press. The ceremony will be simply performed without attendants, and the officiating clergyman will be Rev. W. M. Van Slyke, pastor of the Berry street M. E. church. The contracting parties are deservedly popular. The bride-elect has for years been a member of the Berry street church choir and has also been foremost in several public entertainments. She is pretty and accomplished, possessing winning manners that have won for her the admiration of a wide circle of acquaintances and many who cherish for her a feeling of friendship. The bride and groom will depart on the evening train for Lima, Ohio, there to make a brief visit with Mr. Bacome's parents. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping.

FOUND DEAD.

Mrs. Mary Ehinger, an Old and Respected Lady, Dies Suddenly.

Mrs. Mary Ehinger, widow of Michael Ehinger, was found dead in bed early Sunday morning, at the home of her son Joseph, at 137 West Third street. The deceased, although seventy-three years old, did not apparently suffer from the infirmities of old age. She was active Saturday, and retired in the evening without complaining. Death was caused by heart disease. The funeral will take place Wednesday at 9 a. m., from St. Paul's Catholic church.

OTHER DEATHS.

William Meier died at his residence, 28 Hood street, Saturday night, of dyspepsia, aged 55 years. The deceased had been a sufferer for fifteen years. He was born in Germany, and leaves a family. The funeral will take place Tuesday, at 2 p. m. from the house, and 2:30 from the St. John's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Ellen Manier, wife of Frank Manier, of 144 Holman street, died Saturday of typhoid pneumonia. The funeral took place this morning. The deceased was a highly respected lady, and was loved for her noble character.

Michael Baer, of 90 East Lewis street, died Saturday evening of consumption, aged forty-five years. A widow and children survive him. The deceased was born at Middleton, Conn. The funeral will take place Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Last Thursday, in Eel River township, occurred the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Robinson, one of Allen county's oldest residents. The service was at the Baptist church, and Rev. Markley officiated. The pall bearers were as follows: Jackson Valentine, John Benward, Wm. McCormick, James Lanterette, Israel Luther and Mr. Spann. The family feel grateful for sympathy and kindness extended.

POLICE PICKINGS.

Fair Jennie Buleard Perrong in Bad Company---Other Cases.

The patrol wagon was pressed into service to-day to convey five unfortunate victims of arrest from the police station to the county jail. The prisoners were slated as follows:

Governor Wilson and Charles Storr, malicious trespass. The prisoners were lads. They throw stones at a house owned by Banke & Yergens, and tenanted by one Young, a shoemaker. Wilson acted as spokesman and made no effort to hide his guilt. The arrest was made by Officer Richter. The prisoners were each sentenced to eleven days imprisonment. It is probable that they will be bailed out by their parents.

James Brown, a plain drunk, was sent over for eleven days.

Frank Pierce and Jennie Buleard Perrong were charged with illicit companionship. They were surprised by Officer Borgman in the River house, known formerly as the Oliver house. The affidavit was filed by James Bolyard, stepfather of the girl, who, by the way, is a pretty miss. The mayor assessed a fine of $21.50 in each case, and in default of bail, they were sent to jail under a twenty-five days' sentence.

WHAT A WHOPPER!

Damages For $111,000 Demanded of the Nickel Plate For the Loss of White's Wheel Works.

To-day a $111,000 damage suit was entered in the superior court.

The title of this extraordinary suit is as follows: "John W. White, trustee of John W. White and James B. White, a co-partnership under the firm name of White's Wheel Works and of the American Wheel company, for the use of White's wheel works, American Wheel company and a number of insurance companies, plaintiffs, vs. the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company. The complaint avers that the plaintiff was on August 8th, 1890 and for atime prior thereto, in legal possession of the buildings, machinery and fixtures appertaining to the operation of the White wheel works. It is alleged that upon the date stated the defendant company, by its agents and servants, while running and operating its said railroad and while running a train alongside plaintiff's property, negligently and carelessly set fire to the said wheel works, causing the destruction of the same at a loss of $111,893.10, and damages to this amount are demanded of the defendant company. It is claimed that the engine pulling the said train was overtaxed and was out of repair, emitting sparks and burning cinders which were borne to the roof of the wheel works with the result stated. It is claimed that if the locomotive had been properly fired and had been in good repair the conflagration would not have occurred. At the time of the fire the plaintiff held insurance policies in thirty companies, who are parties to the suit, and these companies under the terms of these policies paid over amounts aggregating $46,270. By reason of these payments made to plaintiff, the insurance companies were subrogated to all the rights of plaintiff against defendant, on account of said loss and damage to the respective amounts paid by them as aforesaid.

The attorneys for the plaintiffs are as follows: Bates, Borger & Harding and Paden & Gridley, Chicago; for the insurance companies, Morris, Nuberger & Curtis, of Indianapolis, for the American Wheel company; and Morris & Barrett, of this city, for the White interests.

COZY, COMFORTABLE COTTAGES

A Number of Tasteful Dwellings Recently Built or Contemplated.

The Business Guide speaks of the following new houses: Policeman Dasler is the owner of a fine lot in Lakeside and expects to build next spring. He will reside there as soon as the addition is taken into the city.

Mr. Thomas Stewart, of Stewart & Hahn, is the owner of the splendid lot at the northwest corner of Berry and Griffith streets. He will erect thereon a very pretty frame house. The work will begin as early in the spring as may be practicable.

Passenger Engineer Dennis McCarty, of the Nickel Plate, expects to erect two cozy dwellings next season.

Contractor Gallmeyer, of Francis street, has commenced to build three frame dwellings on the east side of Hugh street.

Mr. Fred Vollmerding, of Root & Co.'s, is completing a very tasty dwelling on Hugh street.

Mr. David Crouse has well under way a tasteful cottage on Mary street, in Rockhill's heirs' addition.

Mr. John Thieme's pretty new home on West Berry street will not be completed until early next spring.

Mr. Hildebrand is finishing a pretty home on West Washington street, between Van Buren and Jackson streets.

Mr. A. L. Bond, the artist, who built two pretty houses on West DeWald street last season, proposes to erect two more in another location next season.

Justice Harry France expects to erect a very pretty and commodious house in the Sixth ward next year.

Mr. George Jaap, prominent in labor reforms, will have a very handsome home in Lakeside before the close of another year.

Messrs. Frank Leikoff, William Geake, George Ohneck and Charles and Henry Becker are among the projectors of very stylish homes in the Elizabeth Hanna tract, north of the Indiana Home for Feeble-minded Youths.

KENNELLY'S BULLET.

The Brave Officer Has it Extracted From His Neck.

This morning at the St. Joseph hospital John Kennelly, who was shot by the desperado Kuhns, had the ball extracted from his neck. The operation was a very difficult and dangerous one, but it was successfully performed by Dr. W. H. Myers. The patient was put under the influence of ether. He is doing very nicely at present.

ALL FOR LOVE.

Pretty Anna Higgins Attempts Suicide Upon Receiving News of Her Lover's Death.

Sad circumstances are connected with the attempted suicide of Anna Higgins, a domestic at the Pearse hotel, mentioned in THE SENTINEL Saturday. The girl recovered from the effects of the drug Saturday and was willing to talk to a SENTINEL reporter.

"What was your motive in trying to take your own life?" asked the reporter.

"Well I'll tell you why;" and as she spoke tears dimmed her eyes. "I received a letter Friday which brought me the tidings of the death at Indianapolis of one who was soon to call me his wife. He died four weeks ago and they have only just told me."

"But you must bear up under your affliction. You should not be rash."

"Before God I openly vow that I will see Otto's grave and then and there end my life. I do not want to live. I will not live. Oh, Otto, Otto, why did I not know that this must come."

Here the young woman burst into passionate weeping, and it was some minutes before she raised her head to answer the reporter's query as to who her lover was.

"You need not know. My sorrow is sacred. Please do not say too much in your paper. I will leave for Indianapolis this evening and will there end my cares forever."

It was evident that the girl was suffering from a mental shock and was not responsible for all she was saying. She, however, persisted in going to Indianapolis and left on the Wabash train at 8:17 Saturday evening. Mr. Pearse, proprietor of the hotel, was unable to persuade the young lady from her purpose. Her relatives have been wired to take care of her.

TWO MEALS A DAY.

A Custom That Promises to Become Generally American.

A custom that is slowly but surely coming into favor in this and other cities is that of eating but two meals a day. A medical writer tells us that a hundred years ago it was the custom among the merchants of Edinburg to take a two hours "nooning" for dinner in the middle of the day, during which time the shops were closed and all business suspended. It is quite hopeless to attempt a resurrection of this good, old fashioned custom in these fast times; and the best thing that can be suggested is that no hearty meal should be taken during the active business hours of the day, unless at least an hour or two can be allowed after the meal has been taken to give the stomach an opportunity to get the digestive process well under way. A local physician said to a SENTINEL reporter: "Two meals a day are in every way preferable to a larger number. During the noon hour I would recommend taking an apple, a bunch of grapes, an orange or two, or some equally simple food to appease the clamoring of the stomach, eating when tired and engaging in active mental or physical exercise immediately after a hearty meal are two of the most common sins against dietic rectitude in our modern civilization. I have found in a number of cases of dyspepsia that favorable results came from the practice of eating lightly at noon and taking the regular meal at 5 o'clock, when the labors of the day were past."

It is quite true that at the present time the two-meal-a-day plan prevails quite extensively in France and Spain, especially among the better classes. The inmates of the hospitals of Paris are supplied with but two meals a day. The same is true respecting the soldiers of the French army. The Americans are adopting the custom, and Fort Wayne is in the procession.

LOOKING FORWARD.

Active Arrangements for a Big Convention in June.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 p. m., the officers of all the different uniformed societies met at Library hall, with Captain Rohan in the chair. A motion was made to appoint a committee to select men from the different societies as candidates for the general staff. Captain Rohan appointed Captain Fred Graffe, Capt. John Koehs, Capt. Joe Kopp, and Capt. John Schaefer. They are to report to the meeting next Sunday at 4 p. m., when a vote will be taken. After the staff is elected a public installation will take place at Princess rink. The date of the installation is not yet known. Colonel Dunn, of Cleveland, O. and several more prominent men of the Knights of St. John, will install the officers. The preparations are being carefully made to make the coming convention and encampment of the Knights of St. John in June a big success. It is estimated that 10,000 people will be in attendance.

Chicago Markets.

WAYNE STREET M. E. CHURCH—Revival services.

FORT WAYNE needs a good temperance revival.

SEVERAL states will elect United States senators to day.

THE enforcement of the Sunday saloon law is becoming a farce.

LET us hope that the Sioux Indians have taken off their war paint.

HON. CLAUDE MATTHEWS has entered upon his duties as secretary of state.

REV. RETTIG, of the Reformed Orphans' home, preached a grand sermon at the Grace church yesterday.

CHRISTIANS are earnestly at work. Revival meetings are being held in many of the churches of the city.

THE Indiana legislature will choose a United States senator this week. Hon. D. W. Voorhees will succeed himself.

IN Oklahoma liquor licenses are issued by the county. They cost $200 each and are granted upon the petition of thirty tax payers.

"SNOW in Texas" and New Mexico and the east, "Spain and Italy buried in snow," and yet Fort Wayne has only had a day or two this winter when the "beautiful" was with us, and then it was dealt out sparingly.

THE republicans have 101 votes in the Illinois legislature which will, when the ballot for senator is taken, be cast for "Uncle Dick" Oglesby; the democrats have 101 votes which are pledged to John M. Palmer; the farmers' alliance has three votes which will go to Anson T. Streetor.

SENATOR VEST has introduced a bill which will cause every employe of a brewery in the United States to call him blessed. He proposes that the law shall be amended so that no brewer shall be liable to a payment of a tax upon beer furnished to his employes free of charge, and consumed by them while in the brewery. Should the law thus be changed all the brewery employes in the country will enjoy the distinction of drinking untaxed beer.

ATTORNEY GENERAL MILLER at the request of Secretary Windom has rendered an opinion as to whether the new tariff law authorizes the commissioner of internal revenue to issue licenses prior to April 1, 1891, and to pay to manufacturers the bounty on sugar produced between March 31 and July 1, 1891. After discussing the matter at some length Attorney General Miller says that the sugar produced between March 1 and July 1, entitled to bounty under the act, is sugar of domestic manufacture, and that the only sugar of domestic manufacture produced between the dates mentioned is maple sugar. To pay a bounty on maple sugar and not on other sugars, he holds, was not the intention of congress, for to do so would be paying a bounty on maple sugar for fifteen years and on other sugars which are not produced in the spring, but which mature in the summer and fall, for a period of only fourteen years.

A VETERAN of the capitol, who has been a quarter of a century a sentinel at the senate door, says he never but once saw so much intoxication among the senators as was visible on the night of the triumph of the silver men. At least a dozen grave and reverend senators were so much under the influence of liquor that their condition was easily noticeable by their manner and speech. Two or three were actually drunk. Both democrats and republicans were among the offenders, and while more of the bibulous senators were silver men, celebrating their approaching triumph, the guzzling was by no means confined to their ranks. One senator was so intoxicated that his friends had to hold him in his seat to keep him from making a spectacle of himself, another was unfit to be seen and was locked in a committee room, and a third, realizing his own maudlin condition, had the decency to sneak away, fall into a cab, and be driven to his lodgings.

DEATH OF HISTORIAN BANCROFT.

George Bancroft, the venerable historian, died at his home in Washington Saturday afternoon. He had only been sick about two days and was out on the streets a few days ago. Thursday he took to his bed, simply as a matter of precaution, but was taken seriously ill Friday. From that time until Saturday he failed rapidly, and all day he was hovering between life and death. At 3 o'clock the doctor left thinking that Mr. Bancroft would live through the night, but before the hour was up he died. His end was quiet and peaceful and the first cause of death was simply the weakness of old age. His son was present at the bedside when the aged historian died. His funeral will take place tomorrow at 11 o'clock from the St. John Episcopal church. The interment will be at Worcester, Mass., where Mr. Bancroft's wife is buried. He was born October 3, 1800. He had been designed for the ministry and preached some sermons, but abandoned that profession for the pursuit of letters. Mr. Bancroft's most enduring fame will rest upon his "History of the United States from the Discovery of the American Continent," of which the first volume appeared in 1834. Mr. Bancroft had early associated himself with the democratic party, and was in the lecture room and on the stump a frequent and earnest advocate of its principles. In January, 1838, he was appointed by President Van Buren collector of the port of Boston, an office which he held until the accession of Harrison in 1841, discharging its duties with marked energy and fidelity. In 1844 he was the democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts, but was not elected. In March of the following year he was called by President Polk to a seat in his cabinet as secretary of the navy, a position which he held until September, 1848. His brief tenure of the navy department was signalized by several needed reforms, and especially by two important additions to its usefulness—the naval school at Annapolis and the astronomical observatory at Washington. Mr. Bancroft resigned his seat in the cabinet to accept the appointment of minister plenipotentiary to Great Britain, where he remained until the summer of 1849. In 1867 he received the appointment of minister plenipotentiary to Berlin. Upon returning to the United States in 1874 Mr. Bancroft established himself at Washington.

He lived there in a large, old-fashioned, double house on H street, in a fashionable neighborhood, and his garden at Washington as at Newport was filled with choice roses, in which flower he delighted. He regarded his life work as finished two years ago and of late had done no literary work. During the last decade he had revised his great work, the "History of the United States," going over it in severely critical style, and eliminating the flowers of rhetoric in the earlier work. His last production was a history of the formation of the constitution. He undertook to write a history of President Polk's administration, in whose cabinet he served as secretary of the navy, but was compelled to abandon it.

WILL BUILD BRIDGES.

The County Commissioners Will Ensure Safety to Highway Travel.

The county commissioners, impressed with the importance of having substantial and safe highway bridges over various streams throughout the county, have been for a week past inspecting the structures with a view to replacing them. The result of their investigation is that in the spring quite a number of new bridges will be built. Henry Bullerman, president of the board of commissioners, says that eventually the wooden bridge will be a thing of the past. Every new bridge in the county has of late years and will be in the future built of iron. The giving way of the Zanesville bridge, causing death and the filing of heavy claims against the county for damages has had a tendency to make the commissioners active in the matter of bridge building, and although it will take thousands of dollars to accomplish the work the commissioners are inclined to prosecute the same.

PREACHED BY OUR PASTORS.

Sermon of Rev. Dannecker at the St. John Church--Other Discourses.

Every fourth Sunday evening Rev. H. P. Dannecker, the pastor of the St. John Lutheran church preaches to his congregation in English. He did so last evening, and when the brilliant pastor came into his pulpit to commence his sermon he faced an audience that filled every seat in the immense edifice, both below and in the gallery. His text was taken from the second chapter of Matthew, and during its reading of several verses the congregation remained standing. The Scripture reading gave an account of the slaying by Herod of the first-born of Bethlehelm and the region thereabout, in order that he might kill the child Jesus, and from the account the speaker took the theme—the persecution of Christ—that furnished the main thoughts of his discourse. Christians, he said, had been persecuted for over eighteen hundred years, and they were persecuted to-day, but God held up their hands and the gospel has spread and grown with each passing year. Bloody indeed has been the record of the past, but in the midst of it all the cause of the Nazarene has advanced, and enlightenment and religion has dissapated the clouds of heathenism and unbelief. Christianity had seen its dark days, its defeats, its persecutions, but it had also seen its victories, and it was to-day marching on to a grand triumph. The Bible is the light of the world, and when Christ came He brought salvation to the race and all those who beleive in Him will be saved. The world without the Bible and Christ would indeed be a desolate one. It would send us back into barbarism. The Bible teaches us not only our duty to God, but to man, and following its precepts we are enabled to live happy and do justice and right one to another. Take the Bible away and there would be no rule for human conduct. It learns us the relationship that should exist between master and servant, employer and employe, and if its teachings were followed by both we would not hear of the labor difficulties, the strikes, the boycotts, and the bloody encounters that often come as a result of them, for all would then do unto others as they wished to be done by. The pastor spoke at length upon this subject and urged his hearers not to join any society that would conflict with their duties to their church or Christ, or which was in any way opposed to them. He then spoke of the prophesied Christ of the Old Testament as being the revealed one of the New. Men may reject Him; infidels may scoff at Him; the world may persecute and revile the believer, but if men will study the Bible and the teachings of nature, they must believe that He is the Son of God. Infidelity and unbelief, it is true, stalk abroad in our midst to day, but the Bible and the Church of Christ are combatting these enemies, and will in the end triumph. He urged his hearers to accept Christ as their Savior, and the Bible as the word of God, and all would be well with them. The great enemy of the race—death—may come, but if our faith is in Christ it will be robbed of its terrors, and we can pass to a life of immortal happiness beyond. Mr. Dannecker spoke of many other points, a few only of which we have endeavored to quote, in substance, from memory. He is an eloquent, forcible pulpit orator. His delivery is effective, his thoughts clothed in beautiful English and one is held a charmed listener until the close of his discourses. During the evening services, the church choir, one of the best in the city, sang several beautiful hymns, the opening voluntary being a grand one.

ARRANGING FOR REVIVAL MEETINGS

Communion services were held yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church, and the sermon of Rev. Dr. Moffatt, who occupied the pulpit was an able and interesting one and appropriate to the occasion. He spoke of this sacrament of the church at some length. The wine which is partaken is typical of the blood of Christ and the bread represents His body. Its object is two fold. It draws us nearer to Christ and nearer to each other as brothers in Christ. In closing he spoke of the special meetings which the church would soon commence, and said the nearer we are to Christ the more are we desirous of bringing others to the feet of the Divine Saviour that they may have the same salvation and enjoy the same happiness. These meetings, he said, would be conducted by an evangelist, Rev. Wells, who was brought here by the three Presbyterian congregations of the city. They would commence about February 1 or possibly sooner. The meetings would be held during the first week at the Third Presbyterian church, during the second week at the Second Presbyterian church and during the third week at the First church and all the Presbyterian congregations of the city would join in them. After Dr. Moffatt's discourse communion services were held and a large number partook of the sacrament. Before the sermon eight persons were received into full membership with the church.

REV. ELDRIDGE AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Rev. G. N. Eldridge, the pastor of the Wayne street M. E. church, conducted the services at the City Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and delivered a forcible and interesting address. His discourse was an appeal to young men to give themselves to the service of the Lord in the strength of their youth, before sin and dissipation had enervated them. The world, he said, demanded the highest type of Christian manhood—a manhood that was as near perfect, morally, intellectually and physically as it could be made. He pleaded for such a Christianity and for earnest work in the service of Christ. His address was full of good thoughts and forcibly illustrated. At its close some twenty experiences were given and a most profitable and interesting meeting was held. During the service Mr. E. F. Yarnelle sang two beautiful solos, at the close of one of which "When the Bridegroom Cometh," Rev. Eldridge requested all the Christians to arise and every one in the room stood upon their feet. In the course of his address Mr. Eldridge paid a glowing tribute to the work that was being done by the Y. M. C. A. association of the world. He said they were doing hand to hand work with the young men and were reaching many and bringing them into the church. This is true of the organization in this city, and the good that the two departments is doing is very great. They should receive the encouragement and support of every Christian, and a hint might be dropped here that ought to be heeded—attend the Sunday afternoon meetings. They are always profitable and enjoyable occasions.

THE Japan Gazette records a plucky feat by an Englishman resident of Yokohama. The Englishman, who was in Tokio, desired to return to fulfill an engagement in Tomioka. Having been told of the stoppage of the trains by storm he engaged a jinrikisha and arrived at about 4 o'clock in the evening at the river Rokugo. The river was swollen and muddy, and no boats were there for the conveyance of passengers. After waiting by the side of the water for some time the Englishman discharged his jinrikisha, stripped, and having tied his clothes on his back, jumped into the current, notwithstanding the advice of the bystanders. A Japanese who had also an important engagement, and whose pluck was superior to his strength, followed suit, and was being overcome by the current when the Englishman turned back to his assistance and took him ashore on his back. This is said to have taken place before scores of eye witnesses.

OWING to the faulty construction of the tank the tank drama had an unfortunate ending a few days ago in a town in Indiana The tank sprung a leak. No cultivated and intelligent patrons of the tank drama can patiently endure such an accident. This lamentable disaster occurred at a critical moment in which the villain hurls the unfortunate heroine into the flood and the brave young hero leaps in and saves her from a tanky grave; and when the Hoosier audience saw the tank spring a large leak and the water disappear in which these thrilling incidents were to be enacted they made a great row and broke up the play. This impotent conclusion of a great realistic drama, however, was not the worst of the troubles of the manager. The water leaked down into a drug store underneath the theater and the proprietor seized the tank and the other stage properties for damages. Unless mechanical art, on which the theatrical manager must depend for a tank that won't leak, can co-operate with a genius for stage realism better than it did in this unfortunate instance the tank drama is forever doomed.

AMES, of long-handled shovel fame, did not invent the implement. A boy who was digging out a woodchuck, broke the handle of his shovel and fitted in a temporary one of double the length. Ames happened to pass by, and noticing how much easier the shovel was handled, he caught on and started a factory. The boy got a dollar hat and the woodchuck out of it.

THE average life of a rabbit is put at about nine years. The doe may have young eight times a year, averaging eight each time. The first litter is produced when but four months old. The progressions based on these figures lead to astonishing results. For three years the possible progeny of two rabbits has been calculated at over 13,000,000, and for seven years at 1,500,000,000.

SLAVERY existed in New York until early in the nineteenth century. Near the close of the eighteenth century the Legislature passed a gradual emancipation law, and subsequently an act was passed declaring all slaves free on July 4, 1827. The census returns show that there were about 21,000 slaves in the State in 1790, 20,000 in 1800, 15,000 in 1810, 10,000 in 1820, 75 in 1830 and 4 in 1840.

I have a cousin who is a printer, says ex-Mayor J. B. Loughran, of North Des Moines, Iowa. Some years ago he was employed in this city where they were printing circulars for Chamberlain. He had a deep seated cold and terrible cough, and while setting up copy he made up his mind to buy a bottle. It cured him and that was the first I ever knew of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I have been strongly in its favor ever since. My own experience and that of my family convinces me that this remedy is the best in the world. That may be strong language, but that is what I think. Albert G. McDaniel, one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Ladoga, is dead.

SOME very strange accidents are brought to light by the accident insurance business. For instance, a man at Zaliska, Ohio, a stationary engineer, was kicked very severely by a hog. It disabled him for quite a number of weeks, and he was paid $87. Another case was that of a man at Chillicothe, Ohio. As he was stooping to pick up some kindling wood a game rooster gaffed him in the wrist, cutting an artery, which disabled him for some time.

THE Czar of Russia is a hopeless conservative, but in sending his son and heir to travel around the world, visiting all countries "to gain vigor of constitution and breadth of intellect," he does a more liberal thing than any of his predecessors ever did. The czarewitch will even visit and study the United States. If the knowledge he gains will cause him, when he comes to the throne, to give the Russian people a parliament, and treat Siberian prisoners like human beings, then his travels will be to some purpose.

NEVADA is getting on very well without a Governor or Lieutenant Governor, both of these officials having died, and there being no provision for filling the vacancies until the next election. Much has been said about the instability of republics as compared with monarchies, but our republic, in its form and the character of the people, is such that its Federal and State Governments can exist in security for an indefinite period without an official head—a condition that has suddenly plunged strong monarchies into anarchy and bloodshed.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys are made of tough glass that costs four times as much as common glass; and the work on them costs a good deal more than the work on common chimneys, just as the work on a dress is proportioned to cost of stuff.

The dealer is right in saying he can't afford to sell them at the prices of common glass chimneys.

And what will become of his chimney trade if his chimneys never break? He is apt to be wrong there. He can afford to charge a fair price and give new chimneys for all that break in use.

Have a talk with him.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to feet. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy." W. B. Tried and True

Is the positive verdict of the people who take Hood's Sarsaparilla. When used according to directions the good effects of this excellent medicine are soon felt in nerve strength restored, that tired feeling driven off, a good appetite created, headache and dyspepsia relieved, scrofula cured and all the bad effects of impure blood overcome. For a good blood purifier, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

How to Break Up a Severe Cold.

From the Virginia City, Mont., Madisonian.

When we find a medicine we know to possess genuine merit, we consider it a duty, and we take pleasure in telling the public what it is. Such a medicine we found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. By the use of this syrup we have relieved, in a few hours, severe colds, and in the course of two or three days, entirely broken them up as has several of our friends to whom we have recommended it. It is all it is represented to be by the manufacturers. If you have a cough and want to stop it, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will do the work. For sale by druggists.

"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" has been used over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels and is the best remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. For sale by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, 25c. a bottle.

USEFUL INFORMATION.

THE very best nourishment for invalids and children is the juice pressed from a steak or mutton chop thoroughly trimmed and broiled about five minutes. The meat for this purpose should be cut at least three-quarters of an inch thick. The juice may be extracted from the meat by a lemon squeezer or a meat press, which comes for this purpose.

THE little white worms which sometimes make the earth in a plant jar look as if it is alive, can be driven out by stopping the hole in the bottom of the jar, then cover the earth with water in which you have dissolved a little lime. Let this stand for several hours, and it is not likely that you will be troubled with the worms any more.

A TEASPOONFUL of borax, put in the last water in which clothes are rinsed, will whiten them surprisingly. Pound the borax so it will dissolve easily. This is especially good to remove the yellow that time gives to white garments that have been laid away for two or three years.

IF ink is spilled on colored goods that will not bear acids, soak them immediately in sweet milk boiled hot. Hot melted tallow poured through ink spots will also remove them.

CARPETS should be thoroughly beaten on the wrong side first, and then on the right, after which spots may be removed by the use of ox gall or ammonia and water.

HORSERADISH cut in thin strips lengthwise and a dozen or more of these strips placed on the top of each keg of pickles will keep them from becoming stale or moldy.

FOR marks made by scratching matches across white paint, rub with half a sour orange or lemon, then wash with whiting, rub well and dry thoroughly.

A SMALL piece of salt pork boiled with fricasseed chicken will impart a richness to the gravy and the flavor will be better than if nothing but butter is used.

A FEW drops of ammonia in a cupful of rain water, carefully applied with a sponge, will remove spots from painting and chromos.

NICKEL silver mounts and ornaments can be kept bright by rubbing with a woolen cloth saturated with spirits of ammonia.

THE queen of Roumania says man and wife should never cease to do a little courting, no matter how old they may be.

SCATTER sassafras bark among dried fruit to keep it from becoming wormy.

A Successful Method.

Talking on the servant-girl question, after listening to her friends' expression of various opinions adverse to Bridget, Mary Ann, and Gretchen, a pleasant little woman said, "Well, I never have any trouble with my servants. I have a housemaid and a cook, who have been with me for five years, and I do not know that they are extraordinary specimens. One of them is an Irish-American, the other a German. They say that I treat them well. I do not overwork them or keep them at service from dawn till midnight. I don't scold them for every fault. I have a nice bedroom for them and they keep it neat. I let them off in the daytime once or twice every week to take a walk or to visit their friends or to do their shopping. I talk to them at times about their gowns, bonnets, shawls, and ruffles. I see that they have something else than scraps or leavings to eat. I pay them their wages on the first of every month. I help them to do things now and then. They give me their confidence. I show them that I take an interest in them and my husband is considerate toward them. I don't believe they will ever leave our household till they get married, and my cook is a widow who says she will never marry again. I cannot see why so many people have so much trouble with servants or talk about the servant-girl question." The ladies in the cotorie to which this contented housekeeper thus spoke did not feel very happy when she had ended, and went home with a new notion under their respective bonnets. It is an undoubted fact that in any vexed question there is much to be said on both sides, although few are able to discover their own errors, keen though they may be to see and condemn those of other people.

Why We Are White.

Did you ever think of the different-colored people in the world? There are many shades of color, from the almost pure white—exemplified in the Albino—to the intense black, found in the wilds of Africa.

A layer of cells, placed beneath the epidermis—outer skin—all over the body, withdraws a coloring matter from the blood. These cells become filled with this coloring matter, and are called pigment, which means color.

The Albino does not possess these cells, hence he is white, without color.

The degree of color is due to the number of color-cells present in the skin.

Different parts of the body possess different degrees of color, the hair and the eyes having a local color of their own. Through some form of sickness, or debility of the system, an abnormal spot may form, giving a peculiar appearance to that part of the body. In these cases, the red blood cells disintegrate or break down at some place near the surface, leaving a dark discoloration.

Degrees of color are caused more or less by exposure to the sun and weather. Climate, hot or cold, also plays an important part in darkening the color of the skin.

A person's skin may be improved in gloss and fineness by the judicious use of soaps and oils, just as a piece of metal is kept in polish and smoothness by rubbing and burnishing. — Best Things.

An Egg Wins a Husband.

A proposal came to a pretty Maine school-teacher in a rather novel manner. While at her father's home in Sidney a few years ago she wrote her name and address upon an egg, which she had secured in all its warm freshness from the material nest. The egg went to market, and the fact that it bore an inscription was forgotten. In the course of weeks a letter came to the schoolma'am, and to her amazement she learned that that particular egg had hatched strange results. The son of a big commission merchant in a Massachusetts city had seen the name, and had written to say that "if the young lady was as pretty as her name he would like to form more intimate acquaintance." With the characteristic modesty of the Maine school-ma'am, our heroine discouraged the advances of the strangely-acquired admirer. However, he was persistent and came down to Maine. It is to be supposed that he found his ideal, for an engagement and wedding followed in quick succession.—Lewistown Journal.

The evangelistic meetings in progress at the Grace church will continue during this week. At the services yesterday programs were distributed announcing the pastor's topics for each evening. The attendance yesterday was very large at both the morning and evening services, and it is evident that the meetings are growing in interest. There will be afternoon meetings for consecrative workers and inquirers at 2:30 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Dr. Potts crowded the Temple again last evening when she delivered her second lecture. The audience contained many of our most prominent people, and all were intensely interested in what she had to say. The lectures were well delivered, and abounded in happy illustrations, original observations and anecdotes that from time to time elicited hearty applause. Dr. Potts delivered her second lecture to ladies only this afternoon, and to-night will address both sexes. Next Wednesday evening the doctor will deliver her famous lecture on "Love, Courtship and Marriage." This discourse the Boston Herald pronounces "as good as an hour with Mark Twain."

P. B. Colerick is acting prosecutor in the absence of Prosecutor Robinson who is out of the city.

Joseph Keller was arraigned before Justice France this afternoon on the charge of provoking David Hill. The parties reside in Pleasant township.

WHILE the Germans were laying siege to Paris about twenty years ago, M. Thiers came out of the city to consult with Bismarck about the proposed capitulation. Of course it was the Frenchman's duty to present a cheerful front and to try to convey the impression that the people of Paris were not in the desperate condition imagined by the besiegers. On the other hand, Bismarck was pretty well satisfied that the Parisians were being starved out, but of course he intimated no such thing in the presence of M. Thiers. After the conference Bismarck invited M. Thiers to dinner, and the Frenchman only too gladly accepted the invitation. Then it was that the wily German noticed that Thiers ate voraciously of the breads and vegetables, rejected the canned and pickled foods, and partook with seeming avidity of the fresh meat. This quite confirmed Bismarck's suspicions—Paris was starving. After M. Thiers went back to the city there was found in the apartments assigned to him at Bismarck's headquarters part of a Paris newspaper, and from items in it it was learned the conditon of things in Paris was even more desperate than had been supposed by the Germans.

DOWN in South Carolina there is a woman who knows what to do with a burglar when she catches one. Finding one under her bed one morning, she covered him with a pistol, sent one of the children after the neighbors, who live half a mile away; and while help was coming utilized the would-be burglar by making him do the milking and other chores. This is a woman of the old heroic type, plus modern practicality.

GEN. BOOTH'S remarkable book "In Darkest England" has achieved a wide sale. It is already being translated into several foreign languages. The General hit upon a splendid theme for his literary effort, and the lavishness of the subscriptions that are pouring in in support of the philanthropic plan he proposes shows that thousands of people are with him in his desire to improve the condition of England's tremendous army of starving paupers.

REV. FATHER FRANK BARNUM, who is on the mission of the Catholic Church in Alaska, is a native of Baltimore and a son of the late Zenus Barnum, proprietor of the once famous Barnum's Hotel, of that city. A brother, when dying, wishing to perpetuate the family name, left him $90,000 upon condition that he got married. This legacy Father Barnum forfeited when he joined the Jesuits. He is known to his order as a very learned man and famous linguist.

THE census returns sustain public expectation as to the increase of population in the natural gas counties of Indiana. Of those reported, Madison County shows an increase of 8,445, of which 6,633 is in Anderson, and Delaware follows close with an increase of 7,198, of which 6,120 belongs to Muncie. It is gratifying to observe that the country has shared in the increase as well as the cities, showing the influx of an enterprising class of farmers.

A CITIZEN of Brooklyn has caused the arrest of a druggist in that city for refusing him permission to look over the book in which sales of poisons are recorded. The complainant has a wife who is addicted to the morphine habit, and he desired to ascertain if she got her supplies at the druggist's store. The law imposes a fine of $50 when such a request is denied, and the defense in this case is that the demand was not couched in civil language.

AGAINST the ever-growing evil of usury the municipal councils of many small towns of Russia have established pawn houses, in which money is lent at at a very low rate of interest. It is remarkable, say the St. Petersburg dailies, that small country towns have started this movement, while our capital has no such institution as yet, and the Moscow municipal council is just now beginning to think of establishing one.

A DESIRE for education induced a young man in California to rob a stage. He wanted to go to college, and at the point of a pistol he forced a number of passengers to give him their valuables, which it was his intention to convert into cash to pay for his tuition. As the heavy hand of the law brought him up with a round turn, his education will now be imparted to him in a prison, and will take the form of a useful trade.

Mileage Tickets on the Pennsylvania Lines.

On and after January 20, 1891, individual and non-transferable one thousand mile tickets, good over all divisions of the Pennsylvania system west of Pittsburg, will be sold at rate of two cents per mile, or $20 each, by the line agents at principal points.

All forms of mileage tickets heretofore issued for the Pennsylvania lines—still unused and unexpired as to time of limit—will be honored on and after above date, on all roads operated by either the Pennsylvania company or the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway company, and only one thousand mile tickets will thereafter be sold.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Several days ago the secretary of state was directed to report to the senate the condition of the nine constitutional amendments passed by the legislature two years ago. The amendments provide for increasing the terms of county and state officers to four years, and to prohibit two successive terms; making able bodied men members of the militia; making a year's residence in the state necessary to vote; increasing the number of supreme court judges from five to nine, and increase the length of terms to eight years; paying legislators a fixed salary, and removing the limit to the length of sessions, and putting the regulation of law practice into the hands of the legislature. Saturday the secretary replied that no report of the amendments had ever been officially made to him, although the journal of the house of two years ago shows that the chief clerk of that body was instructed to report the amendments as required.

The constitution provides that after joint resolutions, which is the form in which the amendments were put, have passed the general assembly, they shall be signed by the presiding officers of both houses, and be filed by the secretary of state. As the amendments have never been filed, and as Lieutenant Governor Chase says he never saw them and consequently never had an opportunity to affix his signature to them, it looks very much as though the amendments are not worth the paper they are written on. If they are again taken up they will probably have to be treated just as if they were up for the first time and two full years have been lost in getting them before the people. Some senators, however, believe the amendments still constitutional, though not properly managed.

Lieut. Governor Chase says nobody is personally to blame for the failure to comply with the constitutional requirements in this case. The amendments, he says, were passed through both houses on the last day of the session, when everything was in confusion. They were taken up rapidly, one after another, and it was so late when they were passed that it would have been next to impossible to have gotten them enrolled in time to be signed by the presiding officers before adjournment.

In 1881 two amendments, one prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor, and the other granting to women the right of suffrage, were passed the first time. In 1883 they were thrown out on the technicality that they had not been published in full in the journals of the houses.

The senate temporarily disposed of the matter this morning by referring the secretary's communication to the committee on revision of the constitution.

Financial Flurry Over.

A few weeks since the entire financial world was startled by the intelligence of the embarrassment of the great firm of Baring Brothers. A fierce panic in stock immediately resulted. Many millions of American securities were suddenly thrown upon the London and American markets. Heavy failures at home and abroad quickly resulted, and it seemed hardly possible this country would escape a disastrous panic, equal to those of 1837, 1857 and 1873.

But our splendid industrial system has carried us safely over the breakers and we are again sailing in smooth waters.

Legitimate business has scarcely been affected. Our manufacturing industries have not been checked. Commercial credit has not been seriously disturbed.

The business of 1891 promises to equal that of 1890. The building boom Fort Wayne has enjoyed for the past four years will be continued. Wages will be good and work plenty.

A thousand houses are likely to be built before January 1, 1892.

We shall be prepared to furnish every one of them with the latest novelties in the Furniture and Carpet lines. We endeavor to be so far in advance of all competitors, that no well informed citizen of Fort Wayne would think, even for a moment, of purchasing elsewhere.

NATURAL GAS DID IT.

Hotel Marvin, at Findlay, O., Nearly Destroyed by a Frightful Explosion--Two Killed.

FINDLAY, O., Jan. 19.—The first disaster Findlay has experienced from the use of natural gas occurred shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while the guests of the Hotel Marvin were waiting to be summoned to dinner. In the morning it was discovered that gas was escaping from a leaking pipe somewhere into the dining-room, and Mr. Marvin, the owner of the building, with the plumbers, spent the entire forenoon trying to locate the leak. At about 10 o'clock they entered a chamber underneath the dining room, and found such an accumulation of gas that they could not breathe, and it was suggested that a hole be sawed through the floor into the dining room in order to obtain fresh air. This was done, and just as the hole was made, one of the dining room girls, who was sweeping the floor, stepped upon a match, and in an instant an explosion occurred that not only wrecked the building, but killed two girls and maimed and injured a dozen other employes. The force of the explosion was so great that it blew out the flame of the ignited gas, and no fire followed the awful ruin which the shock had caused. The whole city was rocked, as if by an earthquake, by the concussion, and all the windows on the square were demolished. The wreck of the hotel building was all but complete, the only rooms in the house escaping destruction being the parlors and the office.

When the work of removing the dead and rescuing the injured was begun it was found that Katie Walters, a waitress, had been killed outright. Ella Johnson, a dining-room girl, was found alive under a mass of brick and mortar, but she died shortly after being carried to a place of safety. Kate Rooney, another dining room girl, was also fatally injured, but is alive. Frank Poundstone, day clerk at the hotel, was painfully cut and bruised about the neck and face, but will recover. Anson Marvin, owner of the building, who, with the plumbers, was under the dining room floor when the explosion occurred, was probably fatally injured, as he inhaled a great deal of the flame from the gas. Albert French, porter at the hotel, was cut on the neck and head, but will recover. Frank Andrews, one of the proprietors, had his head eye knocked out, and was seriously bruised about the face and the throat. Charles Graves, Philip Well and Jack Cahill, the plumbers, were painfully shocked and stunned, but will soon be themselves again. This completes the list of casualties.

The financial loss will be about $25,000 on the building and $10,000 on the furniture, all fully covered by insurance. It is a question, however, whether any insurance will be realized, as none of the destruction was brought on by fire. The proprietors of the hotel, Mr. Frank Andrews and brother, of Bradford, Pa., had been in charge of the Marvin house only since January 1.

At 2 o'clock another explosion occurred in the same place as the one in the afternoon, setting fire to the already wrecked and badly-demolished dining-room of the Marvin house. The fire department was quickly summoned, however, and more serious damage was averted. The gas from the main pipe has finally been turned off.

SEVERE STORMS

Rages in New England—Heavy Snows at Many Places.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—The reports from various sections of New England indicate that the storm of Saturday night was one of the most severe of the winter. At Haverhill the country roads were almost impassable and railroad travel was seriously interfered with. Fall River reports that all communications with Boston was broken for twenty-four hours. A foot of snow has fallen at Lancaster, N. H., and it is still snowing. At New Bedford a bridge across the river was damaged and rendered unsafe. Salem was in darkness last night owing to the mayor ordering the electric light currents turned off, fearing trouble from the crossing of wires. In Boston wires are down in all directions. A heavy snow fell in Rutland, Vermont, which is badly drifted in places.

INDIAN PUPILS KILLED

In One of the Recent Skirmishes at Pine Ridge Agency.

CARLISLE, Pa., Jan. 19.—Capt. Pratt, of the Indian training school, this city, learned Saturday that several of the Carlisle pupils, among them White Horse, Little Bull and Nakutooths, were killed in one of the recent skirmishes, at Pine Ridge agency and Crayton Brave was wounded. The letter does not state on which side the pupils were engaged.

Newspaper Man Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Charles Taber Congdon, newspaper man, author, poet and magazine writer, died yesterday morning from heart failure, at the Hotel Albert. He was in his sixty-ninth year. The funeral will take place at his old home, New Bedford, Mass., on Wednesday next.

Bank Fails.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 19.—The American National bank, of Kansas City, has suspended. The bank had a capital of $125,000 and was a member of the Kansas city clearing house, and carried on a special deposit for bank and mercantile collections. Its surplus was $65,000 and undivided profits $70,000.

TOWN WIPED OUT.

Disastrous Fire at Aizmoss, Col.--The Flames Elsewhere.

DENVER, Jan. 19.—Dispatches received yesterday say that the city of Alamoss was almost wiped out by fire. Most of the buildings in the town are of wood, and when the fire started a high wind was blowing. The flames spread rapidly and swept the main street from end to end. The loss is very heavy.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 19.—Two cars in a train on the Cheyenne and Northern railroad caught fire Saturday afternoon, from sparks from the locomotive, and an intervening car prevented the engineer and fireman from seeing the flames. The passengers were driven to the rear coach. A brakeman named Anderson volunteed to warn the engineer, and at great peril crawled over the burning cars to the front of the train. The engineer decided to make a quick run to the nearest water tank, seven miles distant. When the tank was reached both cars had been burned up, while the front of the passenger car was nearing destruction. Brakeman Anderson, who risked his life to save others, died last night from fatal burns.

INTENSELY COLD

Is the Weather Throughout All Parts of Europe.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—Information from all parts of the empire is to the effect that the weather is intensly cold. Owing to the calm, however, the cold is bearable. In the waters immediate to the vicinity of this city the ice is eighteen inches thick. Between Rugen and St. Lasund the sea, five miles in width, is swarming with sleighs and skaters, and small ponds are frozen solid.

Throughout Europe the weather experienced is the most rigorous known for thirty years. In the Elbe a number of steamers have had their propellers wrenched off by the dashing of ice floes. Many vessels in the same stream have parted their anchor chains and are drifting helplessly about.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN.

It is Said He Will Fight Slavin Next Summer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—A well authenticated rumor has it that John L. Sullivan, prior to his departure for Grand Rapids this morning, affixed his signatures to articles of agreement, which had already been signed by Slavin, for a fight next summer for the world's heavy weight championship.

The amount of stake and in what country the fight is to take place, are to be kept secret for some time. Phil Lynch and James Wakely, who are credited with having induced Sullivan to make the match, left this morning for New York.

PARNELL COMING.

The Great Irish Leader Will Visit America.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The Press this morning says Parnell will visit America in the early spring. A meeting was held last night at the home of one of the most influential Irishmen, and it was resolved that Mr. Parnell should be publicly indorsed by the Irish of the this city in public meeting within a week should the Boulogne conference be postponed further than Tuesday night.

LOSS OF LIFE

Reported From the Extreme Cold in Great Britian.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The weather throughout Great Britian is increasing in severity and reports of loss of life from the extreme cold are coming in. Many head of cattle are reported as having frozen to death.

Claims to Be an Heir.

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 19.—Eugene Davis, of East Saginaw, Mich., who claims to be the only legitimate son of the late Major Davis, who died a year ago, worth $15,000,000, has arrived here. Eugene's mother, Mrs. A. J. Davis, keeps a saloon at East Saginaw, and claims she was married to the Montana millionaire a half century ago in Maine. About 1850 they moved to Iowa, and a few years after Mr. Davis deserted her.

Instantly Killed.

CALDWELL, Kan., Jan. 19.—J. L. Tracy, a freight brakeman on the Rock Island road, was shot and instantly killed Saturday night by Wm. Brooks, of this city. Tracy went to the home of Brooks for the purpose of meeting Brooks wife, with whom he had been intimate.

Criminal Malpractice.

CATSKILL, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The Rev. Harry W. George, pastor of the Dutch Reformed church at Leeds, and Dr. D. D. Erway, of the same village, are under arrest here on a charge of criminal malpractice, made by Miss Lottie Townsend, the victim, who is now lying in a critical condition.

The Moffitt heirs in Winchester and vicinity have been notified to file their claims to heirship in the great Moffitt estate pending in the chancery court of England.

TRAGEDY IN AN ASYLUM.

George Warburton, an Aged Cripple, Murdered by a Whisky-Crazed Negro at Lebanon, Ind.

LEBANON, Ind., Jan. 19.—Boone county records another murder at the poor farm. Yesterday morning at about 6:30 o'clock an inoffensive old charge, George Warburton, was brutally beaten to death by Samuel Beecham, a negro, who has been known as Sam Curtis during his stay at the institution. Beecham confesses to Sheriff Miller that the ownership of a chair was in dispute between him and Warburton, and that he went to the old man's room this morning, and, after a few words, he took from him his cane and struck him three times over the head. Warburton's skull was fractured in two places and he died within half an hour. Beecham made an attack on Sheriff Miller when arrested, characteristic of his vicious nature, which has been manifested on several occasions, but was overpowered and lodged in jail. Warburton was aged seventy and badly crippled. He was once a well-to-do farmer of Boone county, but was reduced to poverty by adversity and affliction. He has three or four children living in the county. Beecham, aged forty-five, claims that he is from Zionsville. Curtis was a negro who had been given quarters at the poor house temporarily on account of his unfitness for work caused by drunkenness.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN'S ULTIMATUM.

He Will Fight Slavin if the Latter Whips Corbett and Kilrain.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—James Wakely and Phil Lynch, of New York, arrived in Chicago Saturday, having come from New Orleans, where they witnessed the Fitzsimmons-Dompsey fight, to visit John L. Sullivan and try to induce him to pay some attention to Slavin's repeated challenges. They called on John at the Leland hotel and accompanied him and Jack Barnitt to the Windsor theater. At intervals, when the champion was not on the stage, he chatted pleasantly with his two staunch supporters.

"Now, what do you think of it, John?" Wakely asked, after he had explained the object of his visit. "Slavin," he added, "has any amount of backing, it seems, and you could win a fortune in stakes besides the biggest purse ever hung up."

Sullivan, who was sitting in his dressing room, his big, clenched fists resting on his knees, listened attentively.

"Well, it's just like this, Jim," he said, closing one eye and looking at the ceiling with the other. "I ain't got time to fight all those fellows that are after the championship. All of them have the same claim, and if I started out to do it I couldn't discriminate, and I wouldn't know where to commence, see? Now, I'll tell what I'll do. Let Slavin, Corbett and Kilrain settle among themselves, by fighting, which is the best man, and I'll guarantee to fight the winner. If Slavin whips Corbett and Kilrain, I'll fight him, but he's got to do that first."

"How about Jackson?" he was asked.

"Oh, I don't consider him. He's out of it, as far as I'm concerned."

"But even with only the three white men in the race, wouldn't that be a roundabout way to get at the solution of the problem as to who is the better man, Slavin or yourself?"

"Well, if they get to business right away they can kill off the dead wood inside of a year, and that is as soon, according to my present arrangements, as I would be ready to fight the odd man."

"Is that your ultimatum, John?"

"That's what it is."

IN A FREE FIGHT

Two Young Men are Fatally Injured at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—During a free fight at Harrison and Clinton streets, about midnight last night, two young men, Lawrence Casey and Richard Cushing, were seriously and perhaps fatally injured. They were in a buggy and got into a quarrel with a crowd of Greeks, who set upon them with knives. The police captured and took eighteen of them to the station.

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 19.—Yesterday morning after deliberating two hours the jury returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter against Richard Steen, and fixed his sentence at two years in the prison south. In 1882 Steen killed Grant Williamson.

Old Claim Allowed.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 19.—Judge Virginus P. Chapin, of Clarksburg, has just been allowed $90,000 by the government. A claim of $200,000 was filed during the administration of Fillmore, and has been pending ever since. Chapin was United States commissioner claim agent to Samoa, and lost during a storm on the Island goods, vessels and warehouse to the amount asked for in the claim.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—For Indiana and Illinois: Fair; stationary temperature, except in southern portion; westerly winds.

Attachments Filed.

HELENA, Mont. Jan. 19.—Attachments were filed in the district court against the Big Ox Milling Co. aggregating $80,000. About $5,000 is claimed in the shape of loans by the officers and the balance is due the miners for wages.

CONGRESS.

The Doings of the National Legislature To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—After the reading of the journal in the senate today Mr. Gorman proceeded to argue against the correctness of a decision of the vice-president during Friday's session, to the effect that an appeal from that decision was not debatable because the questions it set forth were made not debatable. Mr. Gorman admitted that the rule, although in direct conflict with all the authorities had obtained until 1884, when the rule was modified so as to make it conform to the general parliamentary law, and that under the change made, a question of order might be raised at any stage of a proceeding, and should be decided without debate, unsubject to an appeal to the senate. Any appeal taken "on any subsequent question of order" should be decided without debate. It was perfectly clear, he argued, that the rule which had prevented debate on an appeal where the question itself was not debatable was then abrogated. Addressing himself specially to the vice president Mr. Gorman said that no vice president had ever taken, or ever could afford to take any advantage, or make any arbitrary ruling in the senate. From the first vice president until now, no man whom the people had honored by an election to the office had ever attempted The discussion was continued until 12:30 when the consideration of morning business was proceeded with. Several bills were introduced and referred, and at 1 o'clock the election bill was taken up.

TRAGEDY AT CHATTANOOGA.

Judge Warder Kills Daughter and Her Husband Shot.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 19.—A horrible tragedy occurred here yesterday. S. M. Fugette, cashier of the South Chattanooga Savings bank, was shot and killed by his father-in-law, Judge J. A. Warder, who is city attorney of Chattanooga.

Judge Warder is shot in two places, one ball penetrating his breast at the right nipple and the other took off the index finger of the left hand. Mrs. Fugette is the only child of Judge Warder and she is shot in the right thigh, a very dangerous wound.

AN ELECTRIC SHOCK.

The Current Turned On and Harry W. Hill Will Dance.

To-day in the superior court the Fort Wayne electric light company entered suit against Harry W. Hill, doing business as the Hill Clutch works, for damages to the amount of $20,000. The plaintiff company had the contract for erecting an electric light plant in the city of Bloomington, Ill and contracted with Hill to do a share of the work for $16,000. It is claimed that the defendant, by reason of negligence and incapacity, failed to accomplish the work according to contract, and the electric company was obliged to reconstruct the whole thing, at a great loss. Judge R. S. Taylor for the plaintiff.

FIELDS IS PUNY.

He is Arrested, Released, and is Now Wanted Again.

A man giving his name as Fields was arrested by Officer Lee, Saturday night, on suspicion. The man had seven gold and silver watch cases, and was trying to dispose of them. Chief Wilkinson, after close questioning, saw no reason why the man should be detained, so he ordered his release. Later developments showed that the smooth rascal had stolen the jewelry from Moses Winters, a silver-plater.

The Black Eagle.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—Emperor William has invested Chancellor Von Caprivi, Count Von Halsfeldt and others with the decoration of the order of the Black Eagle. The ceremony was witnessed by Count Von Moltke.

The revival campaign opened at the St. Paul M. E. church yesterday very encouragingly. The congregations were very large throughout the day. In the evening the house was crowded to overflowing and the service was characterized by a deep spiritual interest. At the close of a very impressive sermon in the morning by Rev. S. D. Hillman, a young man was received into the church. The pastor will be assisted during the week to come by a number of ministers and special workers in our own city and from other parts of the surrounding country. A great work is expected. Services at 7:30 this evening.

Arnold Kiralfy, the original Kiralfy, who has scored success the world over as one of the best performers on the stage, was a caller at THE SENTINEL office. He has been before the public as an actor for twenty years, but tonight will be his first appearance in this city. He can't be beaten as a dancer, and he will prove it in "The Water Queen" at the Temple to-night. He is a pleasant gentleman off the stage and makes many friends in and out of the profession.

William Wallace and Lillie Kerns, Frank Bacome and Lotta Mendenhall have been licensed to wed.

IN CUPID'S REALM.

Gallant Lovers Lead Their Fair Ones to Worship at the Shrine of Hymen.

Yesterday noon at Collingswood, fifteen miles from this city, Rev. A. K. Zartman performed a very beautiful marriage ceremony which made man and wife, Miss Avilla J. Snyder, of that place, and Wm. T. Wagoner, a young farmer of Hamilton, DeKalb county. The wedding occurred at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carolus Snyder, and one hundred guests were seated at the wedding feast which followed. The young couple received many presents. They will reside at Hamilton.

POTTER-MILLER.

On the 20th inst. at the brides' home, Ashland, Ohio, will be consummated the marriage of Miss Clara Miller, a charming and refined young lady, to George E. Potter, assistant civil engineer of the western division of the Nickel Plate railroad with headquarters in this city. The engagement has lasted for some months, but the matter has been kept very quiet. The young man is handsome as he is worthy and has a host of friends to whom this announcement will be a surprise. Congratulations in advance will now be in order. After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Potter will settle down in this city.

BACOME-MENDENHALL.

This evening at 5 o'clock, at the bride's home, 111 Lafayette street, will occur the marriage of Miss Lotta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Mendenhall, to Mr. Frank C. Bacome, a popular typo in the composing room of the Morning Press. The ceremony will be simply performed without attendants, and the officiating clergyman will be Rev. W. M. Van Slyke, pastor of the Berry street M. E. church. The contracting parties are deservedly popular. The bride-elect has for years been a member of the Berry street church choir and has also been foremost in several public entertainments. She is pretty and accomplished, possessing winning manners that have won for her the admiration of a wide circle of acquaintances and many who cherish for her a feeling of friendship. The bride and groom will depart on the evening train for Lima, Ohio, there to make a brief visit with Mr. Bacome's parents. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping.

FOUND DEAD.

Mrs. Mary Ehinger, an Old and Respected Lady, Dies Suddenly.

Mrs. Mary Ehinger, widow of Michael Ehinger, was found dead in bed early Sunday morning, at the home of her son Joseph, at 187 West Third street. The deceased, although seventy-three years old, did not apparently suffer from the infirmities of old age. She was active Saturday, and retired in the evening without complaining. Death was caused by heart disease. The funeral will take place Wednesday at 9 a. m., from St. Paul's Catholic church.

OTHER DEATHS.

William Meier died at his residence, 28 Hood street, Saturday night, of dyspepsia, aged 55 years. The deceased had been a sufferer for fifteen years. He was born in Germany, and leaves a family. The funeral will take place Tuesday, at 2 p. m. from the house, and 2:30 from the St. John's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Ellen Manier, wife of Frank Manier, of 144 Holman street, died Saturday of typhoid pneumonia. The funeral took place this morning. The deceased was a highly respected lady, and was loved for her noble character.

Michael Baer, of 90 East Lewis street, died Saturday evening of consumption, aged forty-five years. A widow and children survive him. The deceased was born at Middleton, Conn. The funeral will take place Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Last Thursday, in Eel River township, occurred the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Robinson, one of Allen county's oldest residents. The service was at the Baptist church, and Rev. Markley officiated. The pall bearers were as follows: Jackson Valentine, John Benward, Wm. McCormick, James Lanterette, Israel Luther and Mr. Spann. The family feel grateful for sympathy and kindness extended.

POLICE PICKINGS.

Fair Jennie Bulcard Ferrong in Bad Company---Other Cases.

The patrol wagon was pressed into service to-day to convey five unfortunate victims of arrest from the police station to the county jail. The prisoners were slated as follows:

Governor Wilson and Charles Stott, malicious trespass. The prisoners were lads. They threw stones at a house owned by Ranke & Yergens, and tenanted by one Young, a shoemaker. Wilson acted as spokesman and made no effort to hide his guilt. The arrest was made by Officer Richter. The prisoners were each sentenced to eleven days imprisonment. It is probable that they will be bailed out by their parents.

James Brown, a plain drunk, was sent over for eleven days.

Frank Pierce and Jennie Bulcard Perrong were charged with illicit companionship. They were surprised by Officer Borgman in the River house, known formerly as the Oliver house. The affidavit was filed by James Bulyard, stepfather of the girl, who, by the way, is a pretty miss. The mayor assessed a fine of $21.50 in each case, and in default of bail, they were sent to jail under a twenty-five days' sentence.

WHAT A WHOPPER!

Damages For $111,000 Demanded of the Nickel Plate For the Loss of White's Wheel Works.

To-day a $111,000 damage suit was entered in the superior court.

The title of this extraordinary suit is as follows: "John W. White, trustee of John W. White and James B. White, a co-partnership under the firm name of White's Wheel Works and of the American Wheel company, for the use of White's wheel works, American Wheel company and a number of insurance companies, plaintiffs, vs. the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company. The complaint avers that the plaintiff was on August 8th, 1890 and for atime prior thereto, in legal possession of the buildings, machinery and fixtures appertaining to the operation of the White wheel works. It is alleged that upon the date stated the defendant company, by its agents and servants, while running and operating its said railroad and while running a train alongside plaintiff's property, negligently and carelessly set fire to the said wheel works, causing the destruction of the same at a loss of $111,893.10, and damages to this amount are demanded of the defendant company. It is claimed that the engine pulling the said train was overtaxed and was out of repair, omitting sparks and burning cinders which were borne to the roof of the wheel works with the result stated. It is claimed that if the locomotive had been properly fired and had been in good repair the conflagration would not have occurred. At the time of the fire the plaintiff held insurance policies in thirty companies, who are parties to the suit, and these companies under the terms of these policies paid over amounts aggregating $46,270. By reason of these payments made to plaintiff, the insurance companies were subrogated to all the rights of plaintiff against defendant, on account of said loss and damage to the respective amounts paid by them as aforesaid.

The attorneys for the plaintiffs are as follows: Bates, Borger & Harding and Paden & Gridley, Chicago; for the insurance companies, Morris, Nuberger & Curtis, of Indianapolis, for the American Wheel company; and Morris & Barrett, of this city, for the White interests.

CHEAP, COMFORTABLE COTTAGES

A Number of Tasteful Dwellings Recently Built or Contemplated.

The Business Guide speaks of the following new houses: Policeman Dasler is the owner of a fine lot in Lakeside and expects to build next spring. He will reside there as soon as the addition is taken into the city.

Mr. Thomas Stewart, of Stewart & Hahn, is the owner of the splendid lot at the northwest corner of Berry and Griffith streets. He will erect thereon a very pretty frame house. The work will begin as early in the spring as may be practicable.

Passenger Engineer Dennis McCarty, of the Nickel Plate, expects to erect two cozy dwellings next season.

Contractor Gallmeyer, of Francis street, has commenced to build three frame dwellings on the east side of Hugh street.

Mr. Fred Vollmarding, of Root & Co.'s, is completing a very tasty dwelling on Hugh street.

Mr. David Crouse has well under way a tasteful cottage on Mary street, in Rockhill's heirs' addition.

Mr. John Thieme's pretty new home on West Berry street will not be completed until early next spring.

Mr. Hildebrand is finishing a pretty home on West Washington street, between Van Buren and Jackson streets.

Mr. A. L. Bond, the artist, who built two pretty houses on West DeWald street last season, proposes to erect two more in another location next season.

Justice Harry France expects to erect a very pretty and commodious house in the Sixth ward next year.

Mr. George Jaap, prominent in labor reforms, will have a very handsome home in Lakeside before the close of another year.

Messrs. Frank Laikoff, William Geake, George Obuack and Charles and Henry Becker are among the projectors of very stylish homes in the Elizabeth Hanna tract, north of the Indiana Home for Feeble-minded Youths.

KENNELLY'S BULLET.

The Brave Officer Has it Extracted From His Neck.

This morning at the St. Joseph hospital John Kennelly, who was shot by the desperado Kuhns, had the ball extracted from his neck. The operation was a very difficult and dangerous one, but it was successfully performed by Dr. W. H. Myers. The patient was put under the influence of ether. He is doing very nicely at present.

ALL FOR LOVE.

Pretty Anna Higgins Attempts Suicide Upon Receiving News of Her Lover's Death.

Sad circumstances are connected with the attempted suicide of Anna Higgins, a domestic at the Pearse hotel, mentioned in THE SENTINEL Saturday. The girl recovered from the effects of the drug Saturday and was willing to talk to a SENTINEL reporter.

"What was your motive in trying to take your own life?" asked the reporter.

"Well I'll tell you why;" and as she spoke tears dimmed her eyes. "I received a letter Friday which brought me the tidings of the death at Indianapolis of one who was soon to call me his wife. He died four weeks ago and they have only just told me."

"But you must bear up under your affliction. You should not be rash."

"Before God I openly vow that I will see Otto's grave and then and there end my life. I do not want to live. I will not live. Oh, Otto, Otto, why did I not know that this must come."

Here the young woman burst into passionate weeping, and it was some minutes before she raised her head to answer the reporter's query as to who her lover was,

"You need not know. My sorrow is sacred. Please do not say too much in your paper. I will leave for Indianapolis this evening and will there end my cares forever."

It was evident that the girl was suffering from a mental shock and was not responsible for all she was saying. She, however, persisted in going to Indianapolis and left on the Wabash train at 8:17 Saturday evening. Mr. Pearse, proprietor of the hotel, was unable to persuade the young lady from her purpose. Her relatives have been wired to take care of her.

TWO MEALS A DAY.

A Custom That Promises to Become Generally American.

A custom that is slowly but surely coming into favor in this and other cities is that of eating but two meals a day. A medical writer tells us that a hundred years ago it was the custom among the merchants of Edinburg to take a two hours "mooning" for dinner in the middle of the day, during which time the shops were closed and all business suspended. It is quite hopeless to attempt a resurrection of this good, old fashioned custom in these fast times; and the best thing that can be suggested is that no hearty meal should be taken during the active business hours of the day, unless at least an hour or two can be allowed after the meal has been taken to give the stomach an opportunity to get the digestive process well under way. A local physician said to a SENTINEL reporter: "Two meals a day are in every way preferable to a larger number. During the noon hour I would recommend taking an apple, a bunch of grapes, an orange or two, or some equally simple food to appease the clamoring of the stomach. Eating when tired and engaging in active mental or physical exercise immediately after a hearty meal are two of the most common sins against dietic rectitude in our modern civilization. I have found in a number of cases of dyspepsia that favorable results came from the practice of eating lightly at noon and taking the regular meal at 5 o'clock, when the labors of the day were past."

It is quite true that at the present time the two-meal-a-day plan prevails quite extensively in France and Spain, especially among the better classes. The inmates of the hospitals of Paris are supplied with but two meals a day. The same is true respecting the soldiers of the French army. The Americans are adopting the custom, and Fort Wayne is in the procession.

LOOKING FORWARD.

Active Arrangements for a Big Convention in June.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 p. m., the officers of all the different uniformed societies met at Library hall, with Captain Rohan in the chair. A motion was made to appoint a committee to select men from the different societies as candidates for the general staff. Captain Rohan appointed Captain Rob. Graffe, Capt. John Kochs, Capt. Joe Kopp, and Capt. John Schaefer. They are to report to the meeting next Sunday at 4 p. m., when a vote will be taken. After the staff is elected a public installation will take place at Princess rink. The date of the installation is not yet known. Colonel Dunn, of Cleveland, O. and several more prominent men of the Knights of St. John, will install the officers. The preparations are being carefully made to make the coming convention and encampment of the Knights of St. John in June a big success. It is estimated that 10,000 people will be in attendance.

THE republicans have 101 votes in the Illinois legislature which will, when the ballot for senator is taken, be cast for "Uncle Dick" Oglesby; the democrats have 101 votes which are pledged to John M. Palmer; the farmers' alliance has three votes which will go to Anson T. Streeter.

SENATOR VEST has introduced a bill which will cause every employe of a brewery in the United States to call him blessed. He proposes that the law shall be amended so that no brewer shall be liable to a payment of a tax upon beer furnished to his employes free of charge, and consumed by them while in the brewery. Should the law thus be changed all the brewery employes in the country will enjoy the distinction of drinking untaxed beer.

ATTORNEY GENERAL MILLER at the request of Secretary Windom has rendered an opinion as to whether the new tariff law authorizes the commissioner of internal revenue to issue licenses prior to April 1, 1891, and to pay to manufacturers the bounty on sugar produced between March 31 and July 1, 1891. After discussing the matter at some length Attorney General Miller says that the sugar produced between March 1 and July 1, entitled to bounty under the act, is sugar of domestic manufacture, and that the only sugar of domestic manufacture produced between the dates mentioned is maple sugar. To pay a bounty on maple sugar and not on other sugars, he holds, was not the intention of congress, for to do so would be paying a bounty on maple sugar for fifteen years and on other sugars which are not produced in the spring, but which mature in the summer and fall, for a period of only fourteen years.

A VETERAN of the capitol, who has been a quarter of a century a sentinel at the senate door, says he never but once saw so much intoxication among the senators as was visible on the night of the triumph of the silver men. At least a dozen grave and reverend senators were so much under the influence of liquor that their condition was easily noticeable by their manner and speech. Two or three were actually drunk. Both democrats and republicans were among the offenders, and while more of the bibulous senators were silver men, celebrating their approaching triumph, the guzzling was by no means confined to their ranks. One senator was so intoxicated that his friends had to hold him in his seat to keep him from making a spectacle of himself, another was unfit to be seen and was locked in a committee room, and a third, realizing his own maudlin condition, had the decency to sneak away, fall into a cab, and be driven to his lodgings.

DEATH OF HISTORIAN BANCROFT.

George Bancroft, the venerable historian, died at his home in Washington Saturday afternoon. He had only been sick about two days and was out on the streets a few days ago. Thursday he took to his bed, simply as a matter of precaution, but was taken seriously ill Friday. From that time until Saturday he failed rapidly, and all day he was hovering between life and death. At 3 o'clock the doctor left thinking that Mr. Bancroft would live through the night, but before the hour was up he died. His end was quiet and peaceful and the first cause of death was simply the weakness of old age. His son was present at the bedside when the aged historian died. His funeral will take place tomorrow at 11 o'clock from the St. John Episcopal church. The interment will be at Worcester, Mass., where Mr. Bancroft's wife is buried. He was born October 3, 1800. He had been designed for the ministry and preached some sermons, but abandoned that profession for the pursuit of letters. Mr. Bancroft's most enduring fame will rest upon his "History of the United States from the Discovery of the American Continent," of which the first volume appeared in 1834. Mr. Bancroft had early associated himself with the democratic party, and was in the lecture room and on the stump a frequent and earnest advocate of its principles. In January, 1838, he was appointed by President Van Buren collector of the port of Boston, an office which he held until the accession of Harrison in 1841, discharging its duties with marked energy and fidelity. In 1844 he was the democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts, but was not elected. In March of the following year he was called by President Polk to a seat in his cabinet as secretary of the navy, a position which he held until September, 1846. His brief tenure of the navy department was signalized by several needed reforms, and especially by two important additions to its usefulness—the naval school at Annapolis and the astronomical observatory at Washington. Mr. Bancroft resigned his seat in the cabinet to accept the appointment of minister plenipotentiary to Great Britain, where he remained until the summer of 1849. In 1867 he received the appointment of minister plenipotentiary to Berlin. Upon returning to the United States in 1874 Mr. Bancroft established himself at Washington.

He lived there in a large, old-fashioned, double house on H street, in a fashionable neighborhood, and his garden at Washington as at Newport was filled with choice roses, in which flower he delighted. He regarded his life work as finished two years ago and of late had done no literary work. During the last decade he had revised his great work, the "History of the United States," going over it in severely critical style, and eliminating the flowers of rhetoric in the earlier work. His last production was a history of the formation of the constitution. He undertook to write a history of President Polk's administration, in whose cabinet he served as secretary of the navy, but was compelled to abandon it.

WILL BUILD BRIDGES.

The County Commissioners Will Ensure Safety to Highway Travel.

The county commissioners, impressed with the importance of having substantial and safe highway bridges over various streams throughout the county, have been for a week past inspecting the structures with a view to replacing them. The result of their investigation is that in the spring quite a number of new bridges will be built. Henry Bullerman, president of the board of commissioners, says that eventually the wooden bridge will be a thing of the past. Every new bridge in the county has of late years and will be in the future built of iron. The giving way of the Zanesville bridge, causing death and the filing of heavy claims against the county for damages has had a tendency to make the commissioners active in the matter of bridge building, and although it will take thousands of dollars to accomplish the work the commissioners are inclined to prosecute the same.

PREACHED BY OUR PASTORS.

Sermon of Rev. Dannecker at the St. John Church—Other Discourses.

Every fourth Sunday evening Rev. H. P. Dannecker, the pastor of the St. John Lutheran church preaches to his congregation in English. He did so last evening, and when the brilliant pastor came into his pulpit to commence his sermon he faced an audience that filled every seat in the immense edifice, both below and in the gallery. His text was taken from the second chapter of Matthew, and during its reading of several verses the congregation remained standing. The Scripture reading gave an account of the slaying by Herod of the first-born of Bethlehem and the region thereabout, in order that he might kill the child Jesus, and from the account the speaker took the theme—the persecution of Christ—that furnished the main thoughts of his discourse. Christians, he said, had been persecuted for over eighteen hundred years, and they were persecuted to-day, but God held up their hands and the gospel has spread and grown with each passing year. Bloody indeed has been the record of the past, but in the midst of it all the cause of the Nazarene has advanced, and enlightenment and religion has dissipated the clouds of heathenism and unbelief. Christianity had seen its dark days, its defeats, its persecutions, but it had also seen its victories, and it was to-day marching on to a grand triumph. The Bible is the light of the world, and when Christ came He brought salvation to the race and all those who beleive in Him will be saved. The world without the Bible and Christ would indeed be a desolate one. It would send us back into barbarism. The Bible teaches us not only our duty to God, but to man, and following its precepts we are enabled to live happy and do justice and right one to another. Take the Bible away and there would be no rule for human conduct. It learns us the relationship that should exist between master and servant, employer and employe, and if its teachings were followed by both, we would not hear of the labor difficulties, the strikes, the boycotts, and the bloody encounters that often come as a result of them, for all would then do unto others as they wished to be done by. The pastor spoke at length upon this subject and urged his hearers not to join any society that would conflict with their duties to their church or Christ, or which was in any way opposed to them. He then spoke of the prophesied Christ of the Old Testament as being the revealed one of the New. Men may reject Him; infidels may scoff at Him; the world may persecute and revile the believer, but if men will study the Bible and the teachings of nature, they must believe that He is the Son of God. Infidelity and unbelief, it is true, stalk abroad in our midst to-day, but the Bible and the Church of Christ are combatting these enemies, and will in the end triumph. He urged his hearers to accept Christ as their Savior, and the Bible as the word of God, and all would be well with them. The great enemy of the race—death—may come, but if our faith is in Christ it will be robbed of its terrors, and we can pass to a life of immortal happiness beyond. Mr. Dannecker spoke of many other points, a few only of which we have endeavored to quote, in substance, from memory. He is an eloquent, forcible pulpit orator. His delivery is effective, his thoughts clothed in beautiful English and one is held a charmed listener until the close of his discourses. During the evening services, the church choir, one of the best in the city, sang several beautiful hymns, the opening voluntary being a grand one.

ARRANGING FOR REVIVAL MEETINGS.

Communion services were held yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church, and the sermon of Rev. Dr. Moffatt, who occupied the pulpit, was an able and interesting one and appropriate to the occasion. He spoke of this sacrament of the church at some length. The wine which is partaken is typical of the blood of Christ and the bread represents His body. Its object is two fold. It draws us nearer to Christ and nearer to each other as brothers in Christ. In closing he spoke of the special meetings which the church would soon commence, and said the nearer we are to Christ the more are we desirous of bringing others to the feet of the Divine Saviour that they may have the same salvation and enjoy the same happiness. These meetings, he said, would be conducted by an evangelist, Rev. Wells, who was brought here by the three Presbyterian congregations of the city. They would commence about February 1 or possibly sooner. The meetings would be held during the first week at the Third Presbyterian church, during the second week at the Second Presbyterian church and during the third week at the First church and all the Presbyterian congregations of the city would join in them. After Dr. Moffatt's discourse communion services were held and a large number partook of the sacrament. Before the sermon eight persons were received into full membership with the church.

REV. ELDRIDGE AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Rev. G. N. Eldridge, the pastor of the Wayne street M. E. church, conducted the services at the City Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and delivered a forcible and interesting address. His discourse was an appeal to young men to give themselves to the service of the Lord in the strength of their youth, before sin and dissipation had enervated them. The world, he said, demanded the highest type of Christian manhood—a manhood that was as near perfect, morally, intellectually and physically as it could be made. He pleaded for such a Christianity and for earnest work in the service of Christ. His address was full of good thoughts and forcibly illustrated. At its close some twenty experiences were given and a most profitable and interesting meeting was held. During the service Mr. E. F. Yarnelle sang two beautiful solos, at the close of one of which "When the Bridegroom Cometh," Rev. Eldridge requested all the Christians to arise and every one in the room stood upon their feet. In the course of his address Mr. Eldridge paid a glowing tribute to the work that was being done by the Y. M. C. A. association of the world. He said they were doing hand to hand work with the young men and were reaching many and bringing them into the church. This is true of the organization in this city, and the good that the two departments is doing is very great. They should receive the encouragement and support of every Christian, and a hint might be dropped here that ought to be heeded—attend the Sunday afternoon meetings. They are always profitable and enjoyable occasions.

THE Japan Gazette records a plucky feat by an Englishman resident of Yokohama. The Englishman, who was in Tokio, desired to return to fulfill an engagement in Tomioka. Having been told of the stoppage of the trains by storm he engaged a jinrikisha and arrived at about 4 o'clock in the evening at the river Rokugo. The river was swollen and muddy, and no boats were there for the conveyance of passengers. After waiting by the side of the water for some time the Englishman discharged his jinrikisha, stripped, and having tied his clothes on his back, jumped into the current, notwithstanding the advice of the bystanders. A Japanese who had also an important engagement, and whose pluck was superior to his strength, followed suit, and was being overcome by the current when the Englishman turned back to his assistance and took him ashore on his back. This is said to have taken place before scores of eye witnesses.

OWING to the faulty construction of the tank the tank drama had an unfortunate ending a few days ago in a town in Indiana. The tank sprung a leak. No cultivated and intelligent patrons of the tank drama can patiently endure such an accident. This lamentable disaster occurred at a critical moment in which the villain hurls the unfortunate heroine into the flood and the brave young hero leaps in and saves her from a tanky grave; and when the Hoosier audience saw the tank spring a large leak and the water disappear in which these thrilling incidents were to be enacted they made a great row and broke up the play. This impotent conclusion of a great realistic drama, however, was not the worst of the troubles of the manager. The water leaked down into a drug store underneath the theater and the proprietor seized the tank and the other stage properties for damages. Unless mechanical art, on which the theatrical manager must depend for a tank that won't leak, can co-operate with a genius for stage realism better than it did in this unfortunate instance the tank drama is forever doomed.

AMES, of long-handled shovel fame, did not invent the implement. A boy who was digging out a woodchuck, broke the handle of his shovel and fitted in a temporary one of double the length. Ames happened to pass by, and noticing how much easier the shovel was handled, he caught on and started a factory. The boy got a dollar hat and the woodchuck out of it.

THE average life of a rabbit is put at about nine years. The doe may have young eight times a year, averaging eight each time. The first litter is produced when but four months old. The progressions based on these figures lead to astonishing results. For three years the possible progeny of two rabbits has been calculated at over 13,000,000, and for seven years at 1,500,000,000.

SLAVERY existed in New York until early in the nineteenth century. Near the close of the eighteenth century the Legislature passed a gradual emancipation law, and subsequently an act was passed declaring all slaves free on July 4, 1827. The census returns show that there were about 21,000 slaves in the State in 1790, 20,000 in 1800, 15,000 in 1810, 10,000 in 1820, 75 in 1830 and 4 in 1840.

"Listed," as the brokers say, at "100 Doses One Dollar," Hood's Sarsaparilla is always a fair equivalent for the price.

A prohibition paper started at Rochester was called the Solid Shot. It lived but two weeks.

I have a cousin who is a printer, says ex-Mayor J. B. Loughran, of North Des Moines, Iowa. Some years ago he was employed in this city where they were printing circulars for Chamberlain. He had a deep seated cold and terrible cough, and while setting up copy he made up his mind to buy a bottle. It cured him and that was the first I ever knew of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I have been strongly in its favor ever since. My own experience and that of my family convinces me that this remedy is the best in the world. That may be strong language, but that is what I think. For sale by druggists.

Albert G. McDaniel, one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Ladoga, is dead.

SOME very strange accidents are brought to light by the accident insurance business. For instance, a man at Zaliska, Ohio, a stationary engineer, was kicked very severely by a hog. It disabled him for quite a number of weeks, and he was paid $87. Another case was that of a man at Chillicothe, Ohio. As he was stooping to pick up some kindling wood a game rooster gaffed him in the wrist, cutting an artery, which disabled him for some time.

THE Czar of Russia is a hopeless conservative, but in sending his son and heir to travel around the world, visiting all countries "to gain vigor of constitution and breadth of intellect," he does a more liberal thing than any of his predecessors ever did. The czarewitch will even visit and study the United States. If the knowledge he gains will cause him, when he comes to the throne, to give the Russian people a parliament, and treat Siberian prisoners like human beings, then his travels will be to some purpose.

NEVADA is getting on very well without a Governor or Lieutenant Governor, both of these officials having died, and there being no provision for filling the vacancies until the next election. Much has been said about the instability of republics as compared with monarchies, but our republic, in its form and the character of the people, is such that its Federal and State Governments can exist in security for an indefinite period without an official head—a condition that has suddenly plunged strong monarchies into anarchy and bloodshed.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys are made of tough glass that costs four times as much as common glass; and the work on them costs a good deal more than the work on common chimneys, just as the work on a dress is proportioned to cost of stuff.

The dealer is right in saying he can't afford to sell them at the prices of common glass chimneys.

And what will become of his chimney trade if his chimneys never break? He is apt to be wrong there. He can afford to charge a fair price and give new chimneys for all that break in use.

Have a talk with him.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to feet. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy." W. B. ATHERTON, Passaic City, N. J.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will give their fifth annual ball Monday, February 9. Reineke's orchestra has been engaged. The affair will come off at Princess rink.

John Kelly, fireman on the Nickel Plate, who has been seriously ill at the residence of his father, ex-Marshal Kelly, is convalescent, and will be able to resume his work within a week.

J. M. McConnell, agent of the Wabash at Lafayette, was in the city last evening. Mr. McConnell will be recalled as having formerly been passenger agent at this point. He is prospering.

The marriage of W. Wartenbe, of the machine department of the Pittsburg car shop, will occur the latter part of next month. The bride is an accomplished young lady, living out in the country.

F. G. Conrady, carpenter at the east Pittsburg shops, is suffering from a badly bruised hand, which he received a few days ago, by accidentally letting a heavy piece of timber fall on it. He will be obliged to be absent from duty for several weeks, and will leave to-morrow to visit friends and relatives at Crestline, Ohio.

Tried and True

Is the positive verdict of the people who take Hood's Sarsaparilla. When used according to directions the good effects of this excellent medicine are soon felt in nerve strength restored, that tired feeling driven off, a good appetite created, headache and dyspepsia relieved, scrofula cured and all the bad effects of impure blood overcome. For a good blood purifier, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

How to Break Up a Severe Cold.
From the Virginia City, Mont., Madisonian.

When we find a medicine we know to possess genuine merit, we consider it a duty, and we take pleasure in telling the public what it is. Such a medicine we found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. By the use of this syrup we have relieved, in a few hours, severe colds, and in the course of two or three days, entirely broken them up as has several of our friends to whom we have recommended it. It is all it is represented to be by the manufacturers. If you have a cough and want to stop it, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will do the work. For sale by druggists.

"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" has been used over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels and is the best remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. For sale by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, 25c. a bottle. au27-1y

USEFUL INFORMATION.

THE very best nourishment for invalids and children is the juice pressed from a steak or mutton chop thoroughly trimmed and broiled about five minutes. The meat for this purpose should be cut at least three-quarters of an inch thick. The juice may be extracted from the meat by a lemon squeezer or a meat press, which comes for this purpose.

THE little white worms which sometimes make the earth in a plant jar look as if it is alive, can be driven out by stopping the hole in the bottom of the jar, then cover the earth with water in which you have dissolved a little lime. Let this stand for several hours, and it is not likely that you will be troubled with the worms any more.

A TEASPOONFUL of borax, put in the last water in which clothes are rinsed, will whiten them surprisingly. Pound the borax so it will dissolve easily. This is especially good to remove the yellow that time gives to white garments that have been laid away for two or three years.

IF ink is spilled on colored goods that will not bear acids, soak them immediately in sweet milk boiled hot. Hot melted tallow poured through ink spots will also remove them.

CARPETS should be thoroughly beaten on the wrong side first, and then on the right, after which spots may be removed by the use of ox gall or ammonia and water.

HORSERADISH cut in thin strips lengthwise and a dozen or more of these strips placed on the top of each keg of pickles will keep them from becoming stale or moldy.

FOR marks made by scratching matches across white paint, rub with half a sour orange or lemon, then wash with whiting, rub well and dry thoroughly.

A SMALL piece of salt pork boiled with fricasseed chicken will impart a richness to the gravy and the flavor will be better than if nothing but butter is used.

A FEW drops of ammonia in a cupful of rain water, carefully applied with a sponge, will remove spots from paintings and chromos.

NICKEL silver mounts and ornaments can be kept bright by rubbing with a woolen cloth saturated with spirits of ammonia.

THE queen of Roumania says man and wife should never cease to do a little courting, no matter how old they may be.

SCATTER sassafras bark among dried fruit to keep it from becoming wormy.

A Successful Method.

Talking on the servant-girl question, after listening to her friends' expression of various opinions adverse to Bridget, Mary Ann, and Gretchen, a pleasant little woman said, "Well, I never have any trouble with my servants. I have a housemaid and a cook, who have been with me for five years, and I do not know that they are extraordinary specimens. One of them is an Irish-American, the other a German. They say that I treat them well. I do not overwork them or keep them at service from dawn till midnight. I don't scold them for every fault. I have a nice bedroom for them and they keep it neat. I let them off in the daytime once or twice every week to take a walk or to visit their friends or to do their shopping. I talk to them at times about their gowns, bonnets, shawls, and ruffles. I see that they have something else than scraps or leavings to eat. I pay them their wages on the first of every month. I help them to do things now and then. They give me their confidence. I show them that I take an interest in them and my husband is considerate toward them. I don't believe they will ever leave our household till they get married, and my cook is a widow who says she will never marry again. I cannot see why so many people have so much trouble with servants or talk about the servant-girl question." The ladies in the coterie to which this contented housekeeper thus spoke did not feel very happy when she had ended, and went home with a new notion under their respective bonnets. It is an undoubted fact that in any vexed question there is much to be said on both sides, although few are able to discover their own errors, keen though they may be to see and condemn those of other people.

Why We Are White.

Did you ever think of the different-colored people in the world? There are many shades of color, from the almost pure white—exemplified in the Albino—to the intense black, found in the wilds of Africa.

A layer of cells, placed beneath the epidermis—outer skin—all over the body, withdraws a coloring matter from the blood. These cells become filled with this coloring matter, and are called pigment, which means color.

The Albino does not possess these cells, hence he is white, without color.

The degree of color is due to the number of color-cells present in the skin.

Different parts of the body possess different degrees of color, the hair and the eyes having a local color of their own. Through some form of sickness, or debility of the system, an abnormal spot may form, giving a peculiar appearance to that part of the body. In these cases, the red blood cells disintegrate or break down at some place near the surface, leaving a dark discoloration.

Degrees of color are caused more or less by exposure to the sun and weather. Climate, hot or cold, also plays an important part in darkening the color of the skin.

A person's skin may be improved in gloss and fineness by the judicious use of soaps and oils, just as a piece of metal is kept in polish and smoothness by rubbing and burnishing. — Best Things.

An Egg Wins a Husband.

A proposal came to a pretty Maine school-teacher in a rather novel manner. While at her father's home in Sidney a few years ago she wrote her name and address upon an egg, which she had secured in all its warm freshness from the material nest. The egg went to market, and the fact that it bore an inscription was forgotten. In the course of weeks a letter came to the school-ma'am, and to her amazement she learned that that particular egg had hatched strange results. The son of a big commission merchant in a Massachusetts city had seen the name, and had written to say that "if the young lady was as pretty as her name he would like to form more intimate acquaintance." With the characteristic modesty of the Maine school-ma'am, our heroine discouraged the advances of the strangely-acquired admirer. However, he was persistent and came down to Maine. It is to be supposed that he found his ideal, for an engagement and wedding followed in quick succession.—Lewistown Journal.

The World's Museum this week will place upon its stage a first-class dramatic troupe, it being the Graham Earle company. They will produce the interesting and romantic western drama, "The Miner's Oath." The play and the company is a good one, and yet Manager Geary gives it to his patrons for the small admission of ten cents. Besides this he has numerous other attractions in his museum, Bass, the Ossified Man, remaining another week.

The Benederliober Unterstutzungs Verein held their regular monthly meet in their rooms in the carpenters hall last evening and it was very largely attended. Seven new members were taken in and fifteen applications were received to be considered at the next regular meeting. This organization is largely increasing in membership. A committee was appointed yesterday to find more commodious quarters, the room now occupied being to small.

Manager Chapman announces that another section of fifty numbers will soon be placed in the telephone exchange. The subscribers now number 350 and there are four lines, reaching Waterloo, Plymouth, Logansport, Hartford City, Marion, Decatur, and intermediate points within a radius of fifty miles. The evangelistic meetings in progress at the Grace church will continue during this week. At the services yesterday programs were distributed announcing the pastor's topics for each evening. The attendance yesterday was very large at both the morning and evening services, and it is evident that the meetings are growing in interest. There will be afternoon meetings for consecrative workers and inquirers at 2:30 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Dr. Potts crowded the Temple again last evening when she delivered her second lecture. The audience contained many of our most prominent people, and all were intensely interested in what she had to say. The lectures were well delivered, and abounded in happy illustrations, original observations and anecdotes that from time to time elicited hearty applause. Dr. Potts delivered her second lecture to ladies only this afternoon, and to-night will address both sexes. Next Wednesday evening the doctor will deliver her famous lecture on "Love, Courtship and Marriage." This discourse the Boston Herald pronounces "as good as an hour with Mark Twain."

They are talking of "hay-palaces" and "corn-palaces" as features of the Chicago world's fair. There will be nothing startling about such structures to Americans of 1892, but they will offer Columbus a new sensation if he should happen to drop in.

Dr. Talmage seems to have unearthed the private ledger of late lamented King Solomon. Anyhow he estimates the wealth of that much-married sovereign to have been £680,000,000 in gold and £1,038,000,377 in silver.

The Supreme Court of Minnesota is reported to have lately rendered a decision declaring that "bank checks are not cash, and do not possess legal value as money until cashed."

Judge Lowry is at Goshen on legal business.

P. B. Colerick is acting prosecutor in the absence of Prosecutor Robinson who is out of the city.

Joseph Keller was arraigned before Justice France this afternoon on the charge of provoking David Hill. The parties reside in Pleasant township.

While the Germans were laying siege to Paris about twenty years ago, M. Thiers came out of the city to consult with Bismarck about the proposed capitulation. Of course it was the Frenchman's duty to present a cheerful front and to try to convey the impression that the people of Paris were not in the desperate condition imagined by the besiegers. On the other hand, Bismarck was pretty well satisfied that the Parisians were being starved out, but of course he intimated no such thing in the presence of M. Thiers. After the conference Bismarck invited M. Thiers to dinner, and the Frenchman only too gladly accepted the invitation. Then it was that the wily German noticed that Thiers ate voraciously of the breads and vegetables, rejected the canned and pickled foods, and partook with seeming avidity of the fresh meat. This quite confirmed Bismarck's suspicions—Paris was starving. After M. Thiers went back to the city there was found in the apartments assigned to him at Bismarck's headquarters part of a Paris newspaper, and from items in it it was learned the condition of things in Paris was even more desperate than had been supposed by the Germans.

Down in South Carolina there is a woman who knows what to do with a burglar when she catches one. Finding one under her bed one morning, she covered him with a pistol, sent one of the children after the neighbors, who live half a mile away; and while help was coming utilized the would-be burglar by making him do the milking and other chores. This is a woman of the old heroic type, plus modern practicality.

Gen. Booth's remarkable book "In Darkest England" has achieved a wide sale. It is already being translated into several foreign languages. The General hit upon a splendid theme for his literary effort, and the lavishness of the subscriptions that are pouring in in support of the philauthropic plan he proposes shows that thousands of people are with him in his desire to improve the condition of England's tremendous army of starving paupers.

Rev. Father Frank Barnum, who is on the mission of the Catholic Church in Alaska, is a native of Baltimore and a son of the late Zenas Barnum, proprietor of the once famous Barnum's Hotel, of that city. A brother, when dying, wishing to perpetuate the family name, left him $90,000 upon condition that he got married. This legacy Father Barnum forfeited when he joined the Jesuits. He is known to his order as a very learned man and famous linguist.

The census returns sustain public expectation as to the increase of population in the natural gas counties of Indiana. Of those reported, Madison County shows an increase of 9,445, of which 6,033 is in Anderson, and Delaware follows close with an increase of 7,198, of which 6,120 belongs to Muncie. It is gratifying to observe that the country has shared in the increase as well as the cities, showing the influx of an enterprising class of farmers.

A citizen of Brooklyn has caused the arrest of a druggist in that city for refusing him permission to look over the book in which sales of poisons are recorded. The complainant has a wife who is addicted to the morphine habit, and he desired to ascertain if she got her supplies at the druggist's store. The law imposes a fine of $50 when such a request is denied, and the defense in this case is that the demand was not couched in civil language.

Against the ever-growing evil of usury the municipal councils of many small towns of Russia have established pawn houses, in which money is lent at at a very low rate of interest. It is remarkable, say the St. Petersburg dailies, that small country towns have started this movement, while our capital has no such institution as yet, and the Moscow municipal council is just now beginning to think of establishing one.

A desire for education induced a young man in California to rob a stage. He wanted to go to college, and at the point of a pistol he forced a number of passengers to give him their valuables, which it was his intention to convert into cash to pay for his tuition. As the heavy hand of the law brought him up with a round turn, his education will now be imparted to him in a prison, and will take the form of a useful trade.

An Iowa court has decided that a meteor belongs to the person on whose land it falls, but the decision is disputed, and a case in point will be taken to the State Supreme Court.

The Boston Herald says that the Pilgrim Fathers played lottery for a hundred years after their arrival upon "the rock-bound coast." But they never arose to the sagacity of craps.

Mileage Tickets on the Pennsylvania Lines.

On and after January 20, 1891, individual and non-transferable one thousand mile tickets, good over all divisions of the Pennsylvania system west of Pittsburg, will be sold at-rate of two cents per mile, or $20 each, by the line agents at principal points.

All forms of mileage tickets heretofore issued for the Pennsylvania lines—still unused and unexpired as to time of limit—will be honored on and after above date, on all roads operated by either the Pennsylvania company or the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway company, and only one thousand mile tickets will thereafter be sold.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Several days ago the secretary of state was directed to report to the senate the condition of the nine constitutional amendments passed by the legislature two years ago. The amendments provide for increasing the terms of county and state officers to four years, and to prohibit two successive terms; making able bodied men members of the militia; making a year's residence in the state necessary to vote; increasing the number of supreme court judges from five to nine, and increase the length of terms to eight years; paying legislators a fixed salary, and removing the limit to the length of sessions, and putting the regulation of law practice into the hands of the legislature. Saturday the secretary replied that no report of the amendments had ever been officially made to him, although the journal of the house of two years ago shows that the chief clerk of that body was instructed to report the amendments as required.

The constitution provides that after joint resolutions, which is the form in which the amendments were put, have passed the general assembly, they shall be signed by the presiding officers of both houses, and be filed by the secretary of state. As the amendments have never been filed, and as Lieutenant Governor Chase says he never saw them and consequently never had an opportunity to affix his signature to them, it looks very much as though the amendments are not worth the paper they are written on. If they are again taken up they will probably have to be treated just as if they were up for the first time and two full years have been lost in getting them before the people. Some senators, however, believe the amendments still constitutional, though not properly managed.

Lieut. Governor Chase says nobody is personally to blame for the failure to comply with the constitutional requirements in this case. The amendments, he says, were passed through both houses on the last day of the session, when everything was in confusion. They were taken up rapidly, one after another, and it was so late when they were passed that it would have been next to impossible to have gotten them enrolled in time to be signed by the presiding officers before adjournment.

In 1881 two amendments, one prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor, and the other granting to women the right of suffrage, were passed the first time. In 1883 they were thrown out on the technicality that they had not been published in full in the journals of the houses.

The senate temporarily disposed of the matter this morning by referring the secretary's communication to the committee on revision of the constitution.

Financial Flurry Over.

A few weeks since the entire financial world was startled by the intelligence of the embarrassment of the great firm of Baring Brothers. A fierce panic in stock immediately resulted. Many millions of American securities were suddenly thrown upon the London and American markets. Heavy failures at home and abroad quickly resulted, and it seemed hardly possible this country would escape a disastrous panic, equal to those of 1837, 1857 and 1873.

But our splendid industrial system has carried us safely over the breakers and we are again sailing in smooth waters.

Legitimate business has scarcely been affected. Our manufacturing industries have not been checked. Commercial credit has not been seriously disturbed.

The business of 1891 promises to equal that of 1890. The building boom Fort Wayne has enjoyed for the past four years will be continued. Wages will be good and work plenty.

A thousand houses are likely to be built before January 1, 1892.

We shall be prepared to furnish every one of them with the latest novelties in the Furniture and Carpet lines. We endeavor to be so far in advance of all competitors, that no well informed citizen of Fort Wayne would think, even for a moment, of purchasing elsewhere.
